Campus faced with cutback in electrical output; Regents approve action

President Morris L. Norfleet was authorized by the Board of Regents Friday to seek emergency state funds to repair the University's electrical system which was damaged by an explosion and fire on Dec. 21.

The incident also temporarily interrupted heat to most campus buildings, resulting in freeze damage to water pipes.

Norfleet told the Regents that approximately one-fourth of the electrical capacity had been restored but final repairs would be delayed until new switching equipment is installed.

The facility which was the scene of the explosion, a switchgear house near the Howell-McDowell Administration Building, was to be replaced in March.

Norfleet's report to the Regents also stated that the cause of the explosion is unknown but officials suspected moisture from condensation caused a short between the main bus bars and switchgear case.

Temporary repair of service was started immediately by maintenance and operations personnel and with Bell Construction Company, electrical subcontractor. Service to the campus was restored on Dec. 24 with the exception of one circuit which was energized on Dec. 26.

"We have been able to restore service to a maximum of 300 amps capacity as compared with 1,200 amps which we originally had," the President added. "We are working to increase this capacity to 400 amps but this will be the absolute maximum until the new switchgear is installed and the feeder cables serving the switchgear are replaced."

The President's report also stated that a plan to curtail the demand for electrical service on the campus is currently being developed and added that this is going to have an impact upon all operations and affect some of the educational programs, especially in the technical areas.

Norfleet added that he has written George Atkins, secretary of finance, requesting approval for the repairs necessary to be made on an emergency purchase basis and approval to proceed immediately to replace the feeder cables due to the long delivery time and to the very real potential of failure of the cable in service currently.

He said the University had been informed by the Department of Insurance that there is no insurance coverage to cover the loss.

In other action, the Board:

* Approved the revised 1981 budget based on the $1.4 million reduction in general fund appropriations.

* Accepted the audit as prepared by Kelley, Galloway and Company of Ashland for the 1979-80 fiscal year.

* Okayed a five year plan for computing services.

* Endorsed changes for the summer and fall 1981 academic calendar including elimination of intersession, opening and closing Summer I one week earlier than originally scheduled, conducting summer commencement on Aug. 7

instead of Aug. 14, opening and closing the fall semester one week later than originally scheduled and adopting a four-day instructional week for each summer term.

* Accepted a three-year plan for educational fund raising from private sources prepared by the Office of Development.

* Reorganized the School of Education, reducing the departments from six to five.

* Approved a cooperative educational agreement between MSU and the Warsaw Agricultural University in Poland.

* Adopted the "Standards of Practice" of the Radio-Television News Directors Association to be observed by students, faculty and staff involved in the preparation and broadcast of radio and television news programs emanating from MSU.

* Okayed the Rank I Program for secondary teachers with an option in vocational education.

* Authorized the Academic Affairs Committee to review and submit any proposed degree programs to the Council on Higher Education by Feb. 1, 1981.

* Adopted a policy on the disposal of waste materials with no marketable value.

* Approved personnel changes.

Murphy scholarship established

MSU has established a memorial scholarship fund in honor of the late Dr. Ottis Murphy of Wellington, Menifee County.

A member of the MSU faculty from 1968 until his retirement in 1978, Dr. Murphy also taught in the Morgan County Schools and at the University of Kentucky. He died in late December.

Gifts to the Dr. Ottis Murphy Memorial Scholarship Fund should be made payable to the MSU Foundations, Inc., and forwarded to the Office of Development, UPO 1000. The scholarship fund will provide aid to deserving students from Eastern Kentucky who attended MSU, as requested by the Murphy family.

Martin Luther King program set

The most moving moments from the life of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. will be re-created at MSU on Thursday, Jan. 22.

The Rev. Arthur Langford, Jr. will present a one-man tribute to Dr. King entitled "Martin Luther King, Jr. -- A Portrait" which recaptures the inspiration, eloquences and forceful leadership of the man so often called "A Twentieth-Century Moses."

Rev. Langford, an Atlanta, Ga. city councilman and community leader, has mastered Dr. King's style and offers renditions of the civil rights leader's most significant writings.

The 8 p.m. program in Button Auditorium is sponsored by the Concert and Lecture Series.

Gifts to University

Employees of MSU who wish to give to the University for any purpose may do so through payroll deduction, effectively immediately.

"Faculty and staff members who have not received individual solicitation letters but who wish to consider a gift should contact our office," said University Development Officer Ron Wolfe.

"A gift to MSU can be paid in monthly installments through payroll deduction and the process is simple," Wolfe added.

The Office of Development is located in 801 Ginger Hall and the telephone is 4747.

Gifts may be made to MSU for any specific purpose or for the University's greatest need or any combination. Gifts are channeled through the MSU Foundation, Inc., and are tax deductible.

Semester proceeding as planned

President Norfleet has announced that the University intends to maintain its original academic calendar which calls for the spring term to end May 9.

"Our students and faculty and staff have demonstrated a splendid spirit of cooperation in handling this inconvenient situation and, as a result, we anticipate little impact on our normal operations," he stated.

Dr. Norfleet and Budget Director Porter Dailey met Friday with state officials in Frankfort to formally request more than $93,000 in emergency funds for the repairs. Approval is expected in the near future.

Belly dancing program set

A belly dancing program will begin on Wednesday, Jan 21.

The program will be for beginners as well as intermediate for 10 weeks. Beginning belly dancing will be from 6 p.m. until 7 p.m. with intermediate belly dancing from 7:15 p.m. until 8:15 p.m. in the Mirror Room of the Laughlin Health Building.

Registration is available through the Morehead-Rowan County Community Education Program at 784-8929.

Bill Dance to head bass program

Bill Dance will head the six-member staff scheduled for the 1981 Bass Fishing Institute at MSU April 4 and 5.

The two-day Institute follows a format that gives each participant an opportunity to receive a total of 15 hours of instruction from the nation's best fishermen. Bass will not be the only specie of fish discussed.

Additional information is available from Harry Ryan, Campus Events, ext. 5171.

Regents commend employees

The Board of Regents adopted a resolution commending the University employees who went beyond the call of duty to restore heat and electrical service to the campus during the Dec. 21 emergency.

The resolution states:

"WHEREAS, a pre-dawn explosion and fire on December 21, 1980, interrupted heat and electrical service to most of the vital facilities of Morehead State University, and

WHEREAS, this incident occurred in sub-freezing temperatures and during a holiday period for University employees, and

WHEREAS, restoration of heat and electrical service to University facilities was of a paramount importance in terms of lessening cold weather damage and eliminating physical security hazards, and

WHEREAS, workmen and supervisory personnel of the University's Division of Operations and Maintenance literally worked around the clock to make temporary repairs and restore heat and electrical service to the campus,

BE IT THEREFORE RESOLVED by the Board of Regents of Morehead State University that the aforementioned employees of the University are hereby commended for service above and beyond the call of duty which resulted in a swift and effective restoration of heat and electrical service, thereby averting catastrophic damage to the facilities of Morehead State University.

ADOPTED this 9th day of January, 1981."

Specific calendar changes

Funds approved for repairs

MSU was notified last week by Secretary of Finance George Atkins that the University will receive $93,531 to aid in the emergency and repairs resulting from the Dec. 21 fire in a switchgear house near the Howell-McDowell Administration Building.

In a 25-minute press conference Thursday, President Morris L. Norfleet said that he had been notified by telephone that the money would be available to the University from the state's Emergency Repair Maintenance and Replacement Fund.

The $93,531 is the full amount MSU had requested.

Norfleet stated that the University is now operating on schedule and there will be no change in the academic calendar. He added that every motor, alarm and electrical device on campus is being monitored on a daily basis.

The new electrical equipment which is now being fabricated will be delivered sometime between now and Feb. 10.

MSU to host Boys State

MSU has been selected to host the 41st session of Kentucky Boys State May 31-June 6.

Boys State, sponsored by the American Legion of Kentucky, has been at the Eastern Kentucky University campus for the past 15 years.

More than 200 Kentucky high school boys will participate in activities focusing on the understanding of state government and how it works.

MSU will also be hosting Kentucky Girls State in June.

Desegregation committee named

Vinson A. Watts, director of personnel, will chair a committee to study desegregation at MSU.

President Morris L. Norfleet announced Thursday that a committee to study desegregation at MSU is being formed in compliance with recent mandate of the U.S. Department of Education, Office of Civil Rights.

Watts will serve as chairman of the committee with other members to be appointed soon.

Norfleet stated that the committee will have 60 days to compile its data and desegregation plan for the state, along with other Kentucky colleges and universities.

He added that MSU historically has been a leader in recruiting black students and executing an "open door policy."

He added that the region served by the University had a low black population of 2.5 percent.

Norfleet added that MSU has led the way in setting precedents for desegregation since 1957.

He also said that the University would not be assigned quotas for blacks which he termed "unfair and next to busing which hasn't solved the problem."

Income tax program set

Income tax time is here and MSU's Department of Communications and Appalachian Development Center are offering a program entitled "Your Federal Income Tax."

The Professional Development Training program is scheduled Feb. 3, 10, 17 and 24 beginning at 6:45 p.m. at the ADC. Instructor will be John Osborne, associate professor of accounting.

This is the first program of the 1981 PDT series.

Additional information is available from Dr. Stacy Myers at ext. 5165.

Wolfe, Rudy receive grants

Two MSU faculty members have received faculty research grants.

* Dr. Sharon Wolfe, assistant professor of psychology, $403 for a research project entitled "Conformity and Innovation."

* Dr. David Rudy, associate professor of sociology, $1,300 for a research project entitled "Social Cocoon: Organizations for the Transformation of Identity."

Research grants are available to faculty members desiring to do special research which has potential of contributing to the growing field of knowledge.

$679,827 awarded in grants to MSU

Proposals submitted to external agencies during the fiscal years 1979-80 and 1980-81 represented $679,827 awarded to MSU.

The amounts funded range from $400 for the Community Education Development Fund - Travel Grant to provide support services for new and expanding community education programs to $108,133 for Special Services to increase the retention and postsecondary graduation rates of youths from low-income families with academic potential, who may be disadvantaged because of severe rural isolation.

A total of 48 funded programs were awarded the $679,827.

1981 Founders Day Committee

MSU will observe its 1981 Founders Day on Thursday, March 19, with a combined convocation and awards ceremony in Button Auditorium at 10:20 a.m. and a Fellowship Breakfast at 7 a.m. in the ADUC Cafeteria.

The observance was rescheduled from March 4 in an effort to avoid weather problems and scheduling conflicts, according to John (Sonny) Allen, chairman of the 1981 Founders Day Committee.

Other committee members are Dr. Don Miller, Dr. William Whitaker, Jack Henson, Helen Holbrook, Keith Kappes, Bill Mack, Steve O'Connor, Mary Beth Rice and Tim Wagner.

Other events may be added to the day-long celebration of MSU's 59th birthday as a state institution of higher education, Allen said.

Current job openings at MSU

Application deadlines for these positions are in parenthesis. Additional information is available from Vinson A. Watts, director of personnel, at ext. 2121. MSU is an Equal Opportunity, Affirmative Action Employer.

Former VP named to Regents

Dr. John R. Duncan, professor of education, has been elected to a three-year term on the MSU Board of Regents.

A former administrator who returned to full-time classroom duties in 1978, Dr. Duncan defeated five other persons to gain the faculty seat on the board. He succeeds Dr. Charles J. Pelfrey, professor of English.

Dr. Duncan, 42, holds bachelor's and master's degrees from Morehead State and a doctorate from Indiana University. He has additional graduate study at Miami University and Purdue University.

A former high school teacher, Dr. Duncan joined MSU's sociology faculty in 1964 and became director of admissions in 1967. He advanced to dean of graduate programs in 1968 and served from 1975 to 1978 as MSU's vice president for academic affairs.

The new Regent will assume his seat at the board's next meeting. He becomes the fourth faculty member to serve on the MSU board since the faculty representative's position was established by the General Assembly in 1968.

Dr. Duncan is married to the former Gretta Brown of Sandy Hook, an assistant professor of education at MSU. They have a daughter, Laura Lee.

Vincent Price program set

Vincent Price, one of the best known villains in theatre, will be at MSU on Thursday, Feb. 19.

"The Villain Still Pursues Me" will be presented as part of MSU's Concert and Lecture Series at 10:20 a.m. in Button Auditorium. The program is free and open to the public.

Among Price's more than 100 films are such classics as "The House of Seven Gables," "The Three Musketeers," "The Ten Commandments," "The House of Wax," "The Raven," "The Pit and the Pendulum" and "The Theatre of Blood."

For more than 15 years, Price has been on the lecture circuit appearing in more than 350 American cities speaking on such subjects as modern art, primitive art, the letters of Van Gogh, three American voices (Walt Whitman, James Whistler and Tennessee Williams) and "The Villain Still Pursues Me," a history of villainy.

MSU is "academically sound"

"Academically sound" is how Dr. William F. White, academic vice president, describes the outcome of recent national accreditation evaluations of MSU.

As a result of positive reports from the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools (SACS) and the National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education (NCATE), the total academic program at MSU is sound.

The reports are the culmination of more than two years of work by MSU faculty and administrators who made a complete self-study of the University as part of the periodic accreditation process.

"These reports are valuable to the faculty," said Dr. Dan Thomas, associate professor of education and co-chairman of the MSU NCATE study team. "This type of study allows our faculty to get involved and take an in-depth look at what they are doing. It then gives the University something to go by in making positive changes necessary in our programs."

The NCATE study focused on teacher training, including the preparation of faculty in relation to courses taught, faculty with terminal degrees, faculty teaching in their field of expertise, consistency in course objectives, input from faculty, students and the community as well as whether the curriculum information is relevant to different cultures.

"Most of our shortcomings as defined by the NCATE study team had already been discovered during our own study and were in the process of being improved by the time the visitation team arrived on campus," said Dr. Leonard Burkett, professor of education and co-chairman of MSU's NCATE study team. "All of our programs at MSU were accredited or re-accredited and we are very pleased with the results of the NCATE study."

NCATE and SACS (cont'd from p. 1)

The entire University was under self-study in the SACS accreditation and Dr. Steve Taylor, co-chairman of MSU's SACE study team, stated that the University is in healthy condition, according to the SACS standards.

The SACS study team outlined several strengths at the University, noting the physical plant, library facilities, physical resources and the number of faculty holding terminal degrees.

"The set of standards outlined by our colleagues and peers in higher education for universities and colleges to meet in accreditation studies serve as a yardstick for institutions to measure themselves by," said Dr. Thomas.

"The study never really ends," added Dr. Taylor, referring to the continuous study, change and revision of the University's curriculum and operations.

The SACS and NCATE accreditations are good for 10 years with a review after five years.

In addition to the two major evaluations, MSU also has been successful this year in obtaining SACS reaccreditation of University Breckinridge School.

University Senate ballots available

The University Senate Committee on Elections (Faye Belcher, James Mann, James Robinson, Charlotte Dowdy, Bernard Hamilton) have announced that the deadline for nominating others or declaring one's own candidacy for election as an administrator senator, faculty senator or support staff senator is March 18.

Administrator senators will be nominated from and will be elected by MSU employees carrying administrative titles including vice-president, dean, associate dean, director, associate director, department head, registrar, controller.

Three administrator senators will be elected in the April 14 election. One will be elected representing the Bureau of Student Affairs and two will be elected at-large. The elected individuals will serve three-year terms.

Faculty senators will be nominated from and will be elected by full-time faculty with the rank of instructor and above who have been employed by the University at least one semester and who spend at least 50 percent of their time in teaching and/or research. Six faculty senators, one from each academic school, will be elected with four at-large faculty senators elected. Both will be for three-year terms.

Support staff senators will be nominated from and will be elected by MSU employees whose positions do not fall within the previously mentioned definitions of administrators and faculty and who have been employed by MSU at least one semester. One senator representing the Bureau of Fiscal Affairs and one representing the Bureau of University and Regional Services will be elected for three-year terms.

There is no limit to the number of candidates who can declare or be nominated for the April 14 election.

Ballots will be placed in University Post Office boxes (or in mail boxes at work sites for employees who do not have UPO). You may mark the ballot and return by 4 p.m. of the election day to a central balloting location in your building or to your school dean, bureau head or division head. A check-off of voters will be conducted.

Nominations require the approval of the person nominated.

Nomination or declaration of candidacy forms must be received by the University Senate Committee on Elections, UPO 1020, by 4 p.m. March 18.

Advertising workshop set

The Appalachian Development Center and the Small Business Administration are jointly sponsoring a workshop entitled "Advertising: A Key to Increased Sales" on Tuesday, March 3.

Designed to aid individuals and businesses in coping with the ever-changing world of advertising, the workshop will present information on technical procedures necessary to the development of a basic advertising program.

The workshop will be in the ADUC from 6:30 p.m. until 9 p.m. Registration fee is $10.

Additional information is available from Robert Justice, ADC, ext. 4731.

Wetherby Gym program on sale

Last Saturday, MSU's Lady Eagles and Eagles closed the basketball home season for the 1980-81 season.

The games also marked the final appearance by an MSU basketball team in Wetherby Gym since 1981-82 will be in the new Academic-Athletic Center.

A special souvenir program has been designed focusing on the current men and women teams in addition to facts, figures and photos of some of the past players and coaches to appear in Wetherby Gym.

There are still copies of this program available at $2 each.

Contact the Office of Sports Information, ext. 3325, for details.

Jazz Quartet to be here

The Phil Woods Quartet will be in concert on Monday, March 2. The concert is part of MSU's "Jazz Clinic '81."

The concert, featuring one of the top jazz quartets in the business, will be in Button Auditorium at 8 p.m. Tickets are $5 per person with MSU students with a valid ID admitted free.

MSU student on "Hee Haw"

The Kentucky Chimes, world champion clogging group, will appear on CBS television's "Hee Haw" on March 7. The Chimes include Gary Babb, a freshman agriculture student from Irvine.

Entries sought for directory

The Appalachian Development Center is accepting entries for a "Regional Services Directory."

Entries will be accepted until Friday, Feb. 27.

The booklet will outline the various out-reach services that MSU provides to Eastern Kentucky.

Additional information is available from Shirley Hamilton, ADC, ext. 4731.

Faculty fellowships details

Through the Title III grant for developmental studies, six faculty fellowships are available to instructors of 100, 200 and 300-level courses for the purpose of preparing competency-based or supplemental educational materials which will enhance the likelihood of educational success, retention and development of MSU's his risk learners.

It is not the purpose of the fellowship program to fund individual research or equip classrooms except as these relate specifically to a project which improves classroom instruction and learning strategies.

Each applicant will receive a contract equivalent to that offered for teaching a three hour summer class, a small budget and an opportunity to work with consultants who will aid in the development of competency-based or alternative learning aids for specific classes.

The deadline for receipt of applications for faculty fellowships is March 20. Six copies of the proposal must be submitted to Dr. Wanda D. Bigham, Director, Office of Instructional Systems, 220 Allie Young Hall.

Additional information is available from Dr. Wanda D. Bigham at ext. 3362.

Former dean to be honored Thursday; CBS-TV correspondent to speak

The late Dr. Warren C. Lappin, who served Morehead State University longer than any other person, will be honored posthumously with MSU's 1981 Founders Day Award for University Service.

The presentation will be made during the Founders Day Convocation and Awards Ceremony at 10:20 a.m. on Thursday, March 19. Accepting on behalf of her husband will be Mrs. Ruth Lappin of Morehead.

Dr. Lappin, who died in 1975, served 48 years on MSU's faculty, including 31 years as the University's chief academic officer. At the time of his retirement in 1971, he was vice president for academic affairs and dean of the faculty. He was elevated to vice president in 1966, becoming the first person to hold that office. He had been dean of the faculty since 1940.

Dr. Lappin's career at MSU included two stints as acting president. Lappin Hall, which houses the School of Sciences and Mathematics, was named in his honor.

Two members of his family continue to serve MSU today. His daughter, Mary Ella Wells, is the assistant registrar and a grandson, Jim Wells, is the sports information director.

"The University is privileged to recognize the Lappin family for such a distinguished record of service," said MSU President Morris

L. Norfleet. "The commitment to academic excellence which marked Dean Lappin's professional life remains a treasured legacy for this institution." (SEE FOUNDERS DAY PAGE 2)

Electrical system repaired

President Morris L. Norfleet announced Monday that the University's electrical system has been repaired and that electrical service to all campus facilities has returned to normal.

He added that repairs to the switchgear building and the feeder cables were finished during spring break and a few minor adjustments will be made this week at the administration building.

"As a result of the repairs being completed on schedule, I have asked the Division of Operations and Maintenance to remove most of the electrical use restrictions which have been in effect this semester," Dr. Norfleet added. This means that all elevators, copying machines and instructional equipment are now available for full-time use. We will evaluate the lighting plan and other changes to determine if any of these minor restrictions should be made permanent."

Dr. Norfleet added that he would like to thank the students, faculty and staff members whose "splendid spirit of cooperation" made it possible for the University to maintain operations throughout the electrical emergency.

He added that not one day of class time was lost.

Phi Delta Kappa ceremony set

The MSU Chapter of Phi Delta Kappa has scheduled an awards night on Thursday, April 2. The 6:30 p.m. program will be in the ADUC. Reservations may be made by contacting Patty Watts, ext. 2210 by noon on Wednesday, April 1.

Nominations for Phi Delta Kappa awards are now being accepted from all PDK members for an Outstanding Graduate Student, Outstanding Public School Teacher and Outstanding School Administrator.

All nominations should be forwarded to Dr. Kent Freeland, UPO 795. Deadline for receipt of all nominations is Wednesday, March 18.

MSU to have "Day at the Races"

By popular demand, the University Social Club is sponsoring a "Day at the Races" on Saturday, April 11.

The day at Keeneland will begin with departure from the Laughlin Health Building at 10:15 a.m.

Additional details are being worked out by the social committee and will appear in upcoming issues of UPDATE.

Founders Day speaker

CBS-TV State Department Coorespondent Diane Sawyer, a native of Louisville, will be the featured speaker at the 10:20 a.m. Convocation and Awards Ceremony in Button Auditorium.

A member of the CBS Washington news team since 1978, Ms. Sawyer previously served on former President Richard Nixon's White House staff and as a researcher on his autobiography, "RN".

She was selected in 1963 as America's Junior Miss after winning the Kentucky title. A graduate of Wellesley College, she was a broadcast journalist at WLKY-TV in Louisville from 1967 to 1970.

Ms. Sawyer was commended in the Feb. 28 issue of "TV Guide" for her reporting of the Iranian hostage crisis.

The other major event in the day-long celebration recognizing MSU's 59th birthday will be a Fellowship Breakfast at 7 a.m. in the ADUC Cafeteria. The breakfast program will recognize the role of the Christian Church in the founding of the institution which became MSU.

All Founders Day activities are open to the public.

All 10:20 a.m. and 11:30 a.m. classes will be dismissed on March 19 to allow students, faculty and other interested individuals to attend the activities.

John E. (Sonny) Allen, assistant director of athletics, is chairman of the 1981 Founders Day Committee.

President meets with press

President Morris L. Norfleet made several announcements during a campus press conference last week.

His announcements included:

* The University will sponsor a special summer program this year for gifted students in grades 5, 6, 7 and 8 of the public schools. The program will be called "Adventures in Learning" and will be based at University Breckinridge School. The month-long program begins June 21 and will be open to any qualified student but the primary interest will be in students from Eastern Kentucky.

* The University's Committee on Athletics has been engaged for several weeks in an in-depth study of the MSU intercollegiate athletic program. Recommendations are expected in the near future. The committee was asked to project the future of the MSU athletic program and to carefully examine the costs and direction of men's and women's athletics.

* The appointment of the new Affirmative Action Committee, chaired by Vinson Watts, has been completed and the group will soon begin meeting to prepare a new desegregation plan to be incorporated into the state plan by May 10. Matters of hiring goals for faculty and staff members from minority groups will also be addressed.

He also announced that a General Education Committee he appointed 18 months ago to study general education requirements at the University and make recommendations as to changes, has recently completed its study. He added that the study had been approved by faculty members of the University and forwarded to him for approval and eventual implementation. He said he is presently studying the recommendations and will take action at a further date.

Fiscal constraints discussed

Dr. Roy Peterson, Deputy Executive Director for Academic Affairs, State Council on Higher Education, discussed "The Influence of Fiscal Constraints on Higher Education and Academic Quality" at Friday's initiation banquet for MSU's chapters of Phi Kappa Phi and Pi Gamma Mu.

Peterson stated that fiscal constraints do require that we critically examine our priorities and we select from among the various things that we would like to do.

"Kentuckians may well have to seek new ways in cooperating with each other and may have to change educational aspiration in order to maintain vitality during fiscal constraints.

"It's unfortunate, but true, that both state and federal resources are declining and that budgetary agencies see little likelihood of an immediate turnaround.

"The real danger of fiscal constraints and the decisions that result from fiscal constraints are the shortsightedness of our responses.

"I believe when we respond too quickly, we disassemble the system thru the state's budgeting process and we acknowledge that the state is unwilling or unable to meet our aspirations.

"We should always be pushing the state to provide more that it is either willing, wishing or desires to," he said.

He added that trade-offs between maintaining enrollments at the level that they currently are and perhaps reducing the overall quality of the study body may face higher education.

"We have to seek greater inter-institutional cooperation. We are going to have to respond quickly to requests from all sorts of state agencies and persons interested for various reasons in higher education," he added.

Social Security program set

MSU's Chapter of the American Association of University Women will meet on Thursday, March 26.

The 7:30 p.m. meeting in Lappin Hall will feature James Bryan, operations supervisor of the Ashland District, Social Security Services. Bryan will speak on "You and Social Security."

Great Clean-Up set Saturday

The Second Annual Great Clean-Up for Morehead and Rowan County is scheduled on Saturday, March 28.

The Morehead-Rowan County Community Service Project for county residents and MSU students is sponsored by MSU's Appalachian Development Center and the Environmental Studies Club.

Organizers of the clean-up are seeking neighborhood groups, social organizations, civic groups and other individuals for participation in the activities.

Additional information and registration details are available from the ADC at ext. 4731.

One-act plays scheduled

Theta Alpha Phi, MSU's honorary theatre fraternity, will present two original student scripts during a bill of four one-act plays scheduled March 25-28.

The plays include "Dodging the Alligators," by Bill Callihan; "Demon Rum" by Billy Nichols. Also included are Terrence McNally's modern black comedy "Next" and George Bernard Shaw's classic melodramatic farce, "Passion, Poison and Petrification."

Curtain time in Kibbey Theatre is 8 p.m. each evening. Call ext. 2170 for ticket information.

MSU's role in manpower needs

Dr. John Wells, commissioner of the Bureau for Manpower Services, Kentucky Department for Human Resources, will be the guest speaker for the President's Forum on Friday, March 27, at 11:30 a.m. in the Red Room of the ADUC.

A former resident of Floyd County, he served on Sen. Wendell Ford's staff in Washington before becoming the administrator for Kentucky's employment service and related programs.

Dr. Wells attended MSU before transferring to UK. He holds a doctorate from Rutgers.

The President's Forum is open to all faculty and staff members. The topic for Friday's meeting will be MSU's role in meeting the state's manpower needs.

1981 football schedule announced

The MSU Eagles will play a 10-game football schedule in 1981 opening at Marshall Sept. 12.

The season ends at home Nov. 21 against Eastern Kentucky. The Eagles host Middle Tennessee, Austin Peay, Liberty Baptist and Youngstown State in other games and travel to Murray State, Akron, Tennessee Tech and Western Kentucky.

Scholarship information needed

In the process of calculating a student's financial aid award, the Division of Student Financial Aid must include the amounts of all scholarships, grants, loans, etc. the student has been awarded by sources other than the Office of Student Financial Aid.

In an effort to help alleviate problems in awarding aid, the Division of Student Financial Aid and Veterans Affairs requests that vice-presidents, deans, division directors and department chairpersons submit to the office of student financial aid and veterans affairs by Friday, May 29, an alphabetical listing of those students who will be receiving a scholarship through respective bureaus, schools, divisions or departments for the 1981-82 academic year.

The scholarship listing should include name of scholarship; complete name and social security number of recipients; and dollar amount awarded to each recipient for the academic year.

Wood-powered car to be here

Wood gasification expert Harry LaFontaine will drive from Miami, Fla. to Morehead to demonstrate and discuss his wood-powered Lincoln Continental on Wednesday, April 15.

The 1 p.m. until 5 p.m. Wood Gasification Seminar, jointly sponsored by the Appalachian Development Center and the School of Applied Sciences and Technology, will be in Reed Hall.

LaFontaine, an engineer, university professor and former special effects consultant for James Bond movies, began working with wood gasification 40 years ago in Denmark.

He has connected his latest charcoal-fired gas generators to a specially built $48,000 Lincoln with no modifications to the car's engine.

The tank on LaFontaine's car holds about 125 pounds of wood and the car averages about one mile per pound.

10 retirees to be honored

Ten persons with a total of 149 years of service to MSU will be honored Tuesday, April 28, at MSU's annual Faculty/Staff Retirement Dinner.

Scheduled at 7 p.m. in the Crager Room, the dinner is open to the public with tickets at $4.75 and available at the University Center and MSU Business Office.

Faculty retirees and years of service to MSU include Dr. J.E. Duncan (25), dean of the School of Humanities; Dr. Charles Martin (11), professor of education; Dr. Lewis W. Barnes (18), professor of English; Dr. Leonard Burkett (14), acting head of the Department of Elementary and Early Childhood Education and professor of education; Nell Collins (12), assistant professor of education; Hazel Calhoun, assistant professor of English (16). Staff retirees include Ishmael Howard (12), Sarah Mabry (10), Harry McClurg (7), Robert Cunningham (15), all of the Division of Operations and Maintenance.

Dick Gregory program set

Dick Gregory, comedian, lecturer and human rights activist, will highlight 1981 Black Awareness Week on Tuesday, April 21. He will be the special guest for a 7:30 p.m. program in the Crager Room, free and open to the public.

Gregory was active in the civil rights movement in the 1960's and devoted his time and talent to giving benefits for civil rights groups, peace groups and other groups devoted to human liberation. He is also a recording artist, author and social satirist.

"Jonestown" broadcast scheduled

The words and sounds of Jim Jones and his People's Temple followers in the jungle of Guyana never before made public, have been organized in a 90-minute radio broadcast by National Public Radio.

The program, "Father Cares: The Last of Jonestown," will be aired over MSU's WMKY-FM 90.3 at 9 p.m. on Thursday, April 23. Following the broadcast, there will be a live, one-hour national call-in program for listeners to address questions and comments to a select group of panel members. The call-in number is 202-857-0888.

The program features actual tapes made by Jones for 13 months prior to the tragedy in Guyana. There were more than 900 hours of tapes used by creator and writer James Reston, Jr.

"To hear this tragedy taking place is different than to see or read about it," says Deborah Amos, NPR producer of the documentary. "The sound of Jones' voice and that of his followers goes beyond the pictures we saw on the covers of news magazines. With this program, you can begin to understand how they made the final decision, you actually hear how they were able to do it."

The broadcast features excerpts made during the many "white night" ceremonies in which Jones led his followers to the edge of mass suicide and pulled them back at the last minute. Also featured are several recordings made by Jones while he was still in San Francisco displaying "healing" powers.

Reston obtained access to the tapes from the FBI with the only tapes he did not have access to being those dealing directly with the assassination of Congressman Leo Rayn and others.

Horse Show scheduled

MSU is hosting the 16th annual Agriculture Club Horse Show at Richardson Arena April 24 and 25.

Twenty-five classes of horses will be judged beginning at 7 p.m. Jimmy Richardson of Owingsville will be master of ceremonies and Henry Wilhoit of Grayson will be the organist. Dr. Charles Derrickson will be ring master.

Sweet Adelines set concert

The Sweet Adelines will present a spring show themed "Holiday in Dixieland" in the University Breckinridge Auditorium at 8 p.m. on Saturday, April 25.

The Hobos of Lexington will be the guest male quartet.

Tickets at $3 for adults, $1.50 for children and senior citizens are available from any member of the Sweet Adelines or will be at the door the evening of the performance.

MSU faculty/staff members in the Sweet Adelines include Gretta Duncan, Jean Flannery, Diana Grooms, Nell Mahaney, Anna Mae Riggle, Evelyn Rosenberg, Jeanie Stidom and Oval Hall (retired).

Leon Bates to perform

Leon Bates, pianist and recognized musical prodigy early in his life, will be the featured performer on Friday, April 24.

The 8 p.m. concert in Duncan Recital Hall is part of the Arts in Morehead Series.

Personnel guidelines, athletics, Breck among Board of Regents' topics

The MSU Board of Regents met last week to discuss a 23-item agenda. Board action included:

* The approval of a University fee schedule which increased resident and non-resident tuition, student housing and other academic fees.

* Faculty and staff housing rental rates were increased. Hikes were from $25 per month to $50 per month on the 13 rental sites.

* 1981-82 Budget Preparation Guidelines for the preparation of the MSU operating budget were approved.

* The 1981-82 Personnel Guidelines were approved. The guidelines noted that each area within the University will receive funds in the amount of 9% for the 1981-82 fiscal year for salary adjustments; individual salary recommendations will be made to the President based on the recommendation of the Vice Presidents, Deans and independent Division Heads with final approval of the President; secretarial/clerical personnel will be adjusted within the Secretarial/Clerical Schedule; individuals receiving the doctoral degree in a related field prior to the start of the 1981 fall semester will receive an additional $1,000; individuals receiving the master's degree in a related field prior to the start of the 1981 fall semester will receive an additional $400 (secretarial/clerical employees are already credited with experience within the Secretarial/Clerical Salary Schedule upon completion of a degree and should be excluded from this additional compensation); individuals receiving the bachelor's degree in a related field prior to the start of the 1981 fall semester will receive an additional $200 (secretarial/clerical employees excluded from additional compensation); individuals receiving the associate degree in a related field prior to the start of the 1981 fall semester will receive an additional $100 (secretarial/clerical employees excluded from additional compensation); individuals receiving rank adjustments will receive an additional $500.

* Recommendations were accepted by the Board affecting athletics including adding women's golf, discontinuing men's and women's indoor and outdoor track, reinstating men's soccer and women's soccer, adding three graduate assistants in athletics, adding two cheerleaders, appointing a full-time assistant women's basketball coach, a women's volleyball-softball coach and a women's trainer. As a result of the recommendations, a total savings of $146,567 is expected.

* The Board approved the Mission Review Statement as recommended by the Committee on Academic Affairs.

* The Board ratified three programs which were submitted to the Council on Higher Education. The programs include Bachelor of Science Degree in Nursing, Bachelor of Science Degree in Mining and Reclamation Energy Studies, Bachelor of Science Degree in Scientific Computer Programming.

* Approval of the General Education Review Committee's recommendations based upon its review of the General Education requirements.

* Accepted a proposal by President Morris L. Norfleet to appoint a committee of individuals from the community and possibly outside the community to get a good cross-section of participation for the purpose of conducting a complete study as to the future direction of University Breckinridge School.

* Approved the voluntary suspension of the Master's of Science in Mathematics.

* Approved the granting of Honorary Doctor Degrees at the 1981 Spring Commencement to Mrs. Martha Layne Collins, Lt. Gov. of Kentucky and commencement speaker; Dr. C. Louise Caudill, Morehead physician and former member of the Council on Higher Education; Dr. John Ridgeway, former superintendent of Lexington city schools.

* Approved a ranking schedule for librarians employed before and after January, 1981.

* Granted tenure to 16 faculty members. They will be notified with the issuance of their new contracts for 1981-82. Faculty include: APPLIED SCIENCES AND TECHNOLOGY -- Elizabeth Tapp, Janice Brumagen, Pauline Ramey, Donal Hay; BUSINESS AND ECONOMICS -- John Alcorn, Gary VanMeter; EDUCATION -- Richard Daniel, Laradean Brown; HUMANITIES -- Milford Kuhn, Edward Malterer, George Mays, Eugene Norden, Lucretia Stetler; SCIENCES AND MATHEMATICS -- Leslie Meade, David Magrane; SOCIAL SCIENCES -- Thomas Munson.

* Approved granting Professor Emeritus status to Dr. Leonard Burkett, Professor Emeritus of Education; Dr. Lewis Barnes, Professor Emeritus of English; Dr. Edmund Hicks, Professor Emeritus of History; Dr. J.E. Duncan, Professor Emeritus of Music. These individuals will be retiring.

* Approved the awarding of a Presidential Fellowship to Mr. Omar Othman of Israel for the 1981-82 academic year in the amount of $2,500. This program is to enable needy and capable students from foreign countries to pursue an educational program at MSU.

* Ratified the posthumous presentation of the 1981 Founders Day Award for University Service to Dr. Warren C. Lappin, former Vice President for Academic Affairs and Dean of the Faculty.

* Approved the granting of degrees to all candidates who have applied for graduation and will have completed all requirements by the faculty of the University at the 1981 Spring Commencement. (MORE OF BOARD OF REGENTS p. 2)

THIS IS THE FINAL MSU UPDATE FOR THE SPRING SEMESTER.

Lt. Gov. to address graduates

Lt. Gov. Martha Layne Collins will be the featured speaker here Friday when MSU ends a 20-year tradition by conducting its spring commencement in a new facility, the recently-completed Academic-Athletic Center.

More than 1,000 persons are candidates for degrees during the 1:30 p.m. exercises which are open to the public.

For more than two decades previously, MSU graduated its spring and summer classes in Wetherby Gymnasium.

Mrs. Collins and two other Kentuckians will receive honorary doctoral degrees. Also being recognized are Dr. C. Louise Caudill, Morehead physician, and Dr. John R. Ridgway of Lexington, retired teacher and school administrator.

MSU President and Mrs. Morris L. Norfleet will host a reception immediately after the ceremony for graduates, guests and faculty and staff members.

Other highlights of the event will be presentation of the 1980-81 Distinguished Faculty Award by Dr. Ruth Barnes, last year's recipient, and by James P. Pruitt, president of the MSU Alumni Association, and presentation of the 1980-81 Distinguished Researcher Award by Dr. Jules DuBar, last year's recipient.

Music will be provided by the MSU Symphony Band, conducted by Eugene Norden, and the Concert Choir, conducted by James Ross Beane. The invocation and benediction will be delivered by the Rev. Harold W. Tatman, pastor of the Morehead United Methodist Church.

Nine students are candidates for commission as second lieutenants in the U.S. Army with three students being recognized as Distinguished Military Graduates.

MSU receives MLF award

MSU is among 10 colleges and universities from throughout the United States selected by the Metropolitan Life Foundation to receive major educational awards for 1981.

MSU gets $5,000 to underwrite faculty travel and research related to the continued development of its Appalachian Studies program. Dr. James Gifford of the Appalachian Development Center wrote the proposal.

Other institutions receiving awards were Stanford University, the University of California at Berkeley, Duke University, Mississippi State University, Harvey Mudd College, Evergreen State College, Converse College, Whitman College and California State University at Fullerton.

"We are thrilled to be among the great institutions being recognized by the Metropolitan Life Foundation," said President Morris L. Norfleet, "and we are equally excited about the prospects for our program in Appalachian Studies."

The Foundation invited four-year institutions accredited by the Northwest, Southern and Western Associations of Schools and Colleges to compete for the cash awards. The institutions will use the grants for self-study projects designed to enhance academic planning.

A total of 139 proposals were submitted and judged by a committee composed of distinguished educators who selected the 10 grant recipients.

Metropolitan Life Foundation, established in 1976, continues a policy of corporate giving pursued by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company since 1909. Charitable contributions made by the Foundation, totalling almost $3 million in 1980, are made in the areas of education, health, United Ways, civic affairs and culture.

Appalachian event June 22-27

Eastern Kentucky's past, present and future will be the theme of MSU's 5th annual Appalachian Celebration June 22-27.

Activities scheduled include the Heritage Arts Workshop (June 21-26), Economic Development Conferences (June 23-24), Elderhostel (June 21-27), Jesse Stuart Symposium (June 25-26), Natural Heritage Tour and Hike (June 27), Exhibits and Displays (June 22-26), Scholar in Residence (June 22), Alumni Week (June 22-27), McLain Family Band (June 25), Jean Ritchie (June 27), Cratis Williams (June 22), Hal Richardson (June 25).

All concerts, dances and lectures are free and open to the public.

Regents approve $31.7 budget

MSU's Board of Regents approved a $31.7 million operating budget for 1981-82 at the recent May meeting.

The budget reflects a recurring level of state support that is $1,026,700 less than was originally approved by the 1980 General Assembly for the operations of MSU in 1981-82.

The major thrust of this budget was salary adjustments for faculty and staff. An average of 9 percent has been applied to the salaries of University employees on the recommendations of the vice presidents, deans, department heads and division heads. Additional adjustments were made to secretarial/clerical employees and faculty and staff receiving new degrees or promotions.

In other action, the board also:

- * Approved the President's recommendation that one-half of the Student Activity Fee be designated to support intercollegiate athletics at MSU and that those student services currently supported by the Student Activity Fee continue to be supported by University general funds.

- * Increased the per semester tuition at University Breckinridge School from $40 to $100 beginning with the fall semester 1981 for grades 1-12.

- * Increased the per half-day charge of $4 at the nursery school to $7.50 per day in order to offset the costs of the day program. The program will be extended to a full day beginning fall 1981.

- * Promoted 19 individuals for the 1981-81 academic year. The list includes: APPLIED SCIENCES AND TECHNOLOGY -- Donal Hay, professor; Dennis Karwatka, associate professor; John VanHoose, assistant professor; Pam Thompson, assistant professor; Sam Kumar, assistant professor; Forrest Cameron, assistant professor. EDUCATION -- Dan Thomas, professor; Randall Wells, professor; Dreama Price (UBS), assistant professor; Jessie Mangrum (UBS), assistant professor. HUMANITIES -- Earle Louder, professor; Milford Kuhn, associate professor; Joyce Chaney, associate professor. SCIENCES AND MATHEMATICS -- Rodger Hammons, professor; Fred Busroe, associate professor; James Mann, associate professor; Les Meade, associate professor. SOCIAL SCIENCES -- Charles Holt, professor; Thomas Munson, associate professor.

- * Approved an affiliation of the Morehead State University Senate with the Congress of Faculty Senate Leaders of Kentucky (COFSL) as recommended by the University Senate.

Board of Regents

* Ratified an Affirmative Action Plan.

* Approved academic policies concerning proposed undergraduate academic probation, proposed policy for academic bankruptcy and proposed policy regarding repeating courses.

* Approved the revised academic calendar for the school years 1981-82, 1982-83, 1983-84.

The board also agreed to proceed to work out a cooperative working relationship with Martiki Coal Corporation.

The University has initiated preliminary discussions with the coal corporation concerning a joint research and service project in land use management for agriculture purposes. The project will provide opportunities for faculty and students in Mining Technology, Reclamation Technology, Agriculture and other disciplines for applied research in an innovative enterprise aimed at converting reclaimed surface mined areas into agriculture production.

Faculty Fellowships available

Through the Title III grant for developmental studies, six Faculty Fellowships are available to teachers of 100, 200 and 300 level courses for the purpose of preparing competency-based or supplemental educational materials which will enhance the likelihood of educational success, retention and development of MSU's high risk learners.

It is not the purpose of the Fellowship Program to fund individual research or to equip classrooms except as these relate specifically to a project which improves classroom instruction and learning strategies.

Each successful applicant will receive three hours of reassigned time, a small budget and an opportunity to work with consultants who will aid in the development of competency based or alternative learning aids for specific classes.

Criteria for Granting Awards:

- 1) Clear relationship between project proposal and goals/objectives of the Title III Developmental Studies Program.
- 2) Capability of applicant to complete project.
- 3) Immediate applicability to the instruction of MSU students.
- 4) Clarity of narrative.
- 5) Expected outcomes of project stated in behavioral terms.
- 6) Evaluation plan for the project including design (experimental and control groups, if applicable), instruments and analyses to be performed.
- 7) Commitment to share results of completed project at developmental studies workshops at MSU.

Each application for a Faculty Fellowship must include the following items:

- 1) Brief narrative (maximum one page) describing the need for the project, the characteristics of students in the class(es), the number of students to be served in one or more sections of the class.
- 2) A clear statement of objectives (maximum one page).
- 3) A timetable for completion of the project by Dec. 31, 1981.
- 4) Plan for evaluation of the project.
- 5) Vita of applicant.
- 6) Letter of endorsement from the department chairperson.
- 7) Budget, including narrative justification, for expenses to be incurred in carrying out the project.

The deadline for receipt of applications is July 10, 1981. Six copies of the proposal must be submitted to Dr. Wanda D. Bigham, Director, Office of Instructional Systems, 220 Allie Young Hall.

The announcement regarding Faculty Fellowship recipients will be made by Aug. 15. Funded projects must be completed and reports submitted by Dec. 31, 1981.

3 attend Argonne institutes

Allen Lake, associate professor of biology, has been selected to participate in the Argonne National Laboratory faculty institute, Transmission Electron Microscopy in Biological and in Materials Research.

The institute is June 8-19 at Argonne, Ill. Jack D. Early, MSU physics student from Clearfield, has been accepted to participate in the Argonne National Laboratory Summer Undergraduate Research Program. He will be located at the Argonne-West site in Idaho.

The undergraduate program is an 11-week program during the summer. Early is expected to participate in research activities at Argonne's Hot Fuel Examination Facility Complex where irradiation tests of reactor fuel and structural materials essential for the development of breeder reactors are being studied.

Argonne National Laboratory is one of the nation's largest federally funded research and development centers. Their programs include numerous energy research and development efforts as well as fundamental programs in the physical, environmental and biological sciences.

Frosh orientation underway

An estimated 1,000 incoming freshmen and their parents are on campus this week to meet faculty and administrators, discuss academic programs and register for fall semester classes during Summer Orientation Early Registration.

Activities begin Wednesday and Friday at 9 a.m. with program registration followed at 9:30 a.m. by a welcome from President Norfleet. A University life presentation is scheduled at 10 a.m.

Beginning at 10:30 a.m., the parents' program will include a coffee, faculty/student panel, lunch, campus tours and information question/answer sessions.

The students are scheduled at 10:30 a.m. with a faculty/student panel followed by advising and registration.

Advising and registration for the students begins at 1 p.m. each day.

New students who are unable to come to campus this week will be invited back on July 24.

Appy Celebration opens Monday

MSU's Fifth Annual Appalachian Celebration gets underway next week with activities scheduled on campus through June 27.

Sponsored by the ADC, the event will feature formal dances, folk-style, concerts by the McLain Family Band and Jean Ritchie, and impromptu music.

On Tuesday, June 23, the McLain Family Band will perform on the lawn of the Camden-Carroll Library, and again at 8 p.m. in the Crager Room of ADUC.

Noted Appalachian scholar Dr. Cratis Williams will sing and lecture about Appalachian ballads on Monday, June 22, at 7 p.m. in the Student Center.

Internationally-known ballad singer Jean Ritchie will present a concert of traditional music on Saturday, June 27, at 8 p.m.

In addition to the concerts and dances, workshops on traditional music and instruments, classes and discussion groups will be held.

All concerts and dances are free and open to the public.

Child Development Lab taking names

MSU's Child Development Laboratory will be accepting applications on a first-come-first served basis June 23-July 17 for children aged 3-5 years.

The Laboratory will be open August 21-May 21, Monday-Friday, from 7:45 a.m.-4:30 p.m.

Stuart Symposium set

A lunch in Jesse Stuart's neighborhood, W-Hollow, and a lecture by Stuart's biographer will highlight MSU's Jesse Stuart Symposium on June 25 and 26.

The event will feature one day of lecture and discussion about Stuart and his work as an Appalachian teacher and author. The second day will feature a tour of his Eastern Kentucky home, guided by James Stuart, the author's brother.

The symposium is a first as part of the Fifth Annual Appalachian Celebration hosted by the ADC.

Panelists and discussion leaders include Dr. Jim Wayne Miller, professor of English at Western Kentucky University and a leading scholar and poet of the Appalachian region, Kentucky poet Lee Pennington, and the nation's leading Appalachian scholar, Dr. Cratis Williams.

Following the events of the first day, a dinner is scheduled in the ADUC at 5:30 p.m. with Dr. Harold Richardson, University of Louisville, presenting the keynote address.

Manley joins coaching staff

Head Football Coach Steve Loney Monday announced the appointment of Mike Manley as MSU's offensive coordinator.

A veteran of eight years of high school coaching, the 30-year-old Manley comes to MSU from the head coaching position at Ashland Paul Blazer High School where his team posted a 9-4 record last year, his first at the school.

Other stops in Manley's coaching career were head coaching positions at Bullitt Central High School, St. James (Mo.) High School, and an assistant's position at Mt. Sterling High School, where he also served as head basketball coach.

A 1973 graduate of Anderson College, Manley is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Manley of Mt. Sterling. He is married to the former Joanie Taylor of Chicago. They have a son and daughter.

Baseball signee

MSU Baseball Coach Steve Hamilton announced the signing of Drew Hall of Ashland to a national letter-of-intent.

A 6-5, 195 pound left-handed pitcher, Hall played for Coach Frank Sloan at Paul Blazer High School in Ashland this past season.

"I feel that Drew was possibly the best pitching prospect available in the state this year," stated Hamilton. "He is a hard thrower who needs to gain experience and polish to be a winner in college baseball."

The son of Acie Hall, Rt. 1, Rush, Hall is the first MSU baseball signee of the recruiting season.

People in the News

Season Opener "Carousel"

Cave Run Lake Musical Theatre opens its third season Friday night at the Twin Knobs Recreation Area with Rodgers and Hammerstein's "Carousel."

The production features Bob Thomas of Lexington as the charming Billy Bigelow, who first loses his life and then returns to earth proving his love for Julie Jordan, portrayed by Lisa Sutherland of Shelbyville.

Other productions scheduled this season include Irving Berlin's "Annie Get Your Gun," opening July 2, and a spoof on old-time operetta entitled "Little Mary Sunshine," opening July 8.

Curtain time for each performance is 8:30 p.m. In case of rain, performances will be held in Button Auditorium.

Ticket and reservation information is available at (606)783-2170

NCAA Camp Set

MSU will host its fourth annual NCAA National Youth Sports Program beginning July 6.

The five-week day camp will feature daily athletic and recreational activities for 275 area youth between the ages of 10 and 18.

Instruction, practice and competition will include tennis, basketball, soccer, canoeing, camping and swimming.

Additional features include informational programs on drug use and abuse, nutrition, career and job opportunities and education.

Required medical examinations are scheduled Saturday, June 27 beginning at 9 a.m. in Laughlin Health Building.

The camp is free of charge to selected participants and includes free insurance and lunch each day.

Funding for the National Youth Sports Program is provided by the federal government through the NCAA.

Independence Holiday

MSU will be closed Friday, July 3, in observance of Independence Day.

Office hours will resume at 8 a.m. on Monday, July 6, with registration for MSU's Summer Session II at the Laughlin Health Building.

Summer II classes begin July 7.

Church Music Workshop Planned

MSU'S Department of Music will host a Church Music Workshop from July 6 through 10.

The week-long workshop in Baird Music Hall includes music of the liturgical year, the organ's place in worship, organization and equipment for handbell choirs, and repertoire for children and adult choirs, organ and handbells.

Classes are scheduled each weekday from 1 p.m. until 4:30 p.m.

Individual instruction is available in organ, harpsichord and voice. Instructors for the workshop are Lucretia Stetler, assistant professor of music, and Vasile Venettozzi, associate professor of music.

For more information, contact Mrs. Venettozzi at (606)783-3242.

Gorge Tour Saturday

It's nothing more than a geography class outside, according to Dr. Roland Burns, associate professor of geography at MSU. He was describing this Saturday's planned tour of the Red River Gorge in conjunction with MSU's Appalachian Celebration.

Scheduled from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m., the tour will include visits to Cave Run Reservoir, the Natural Bridge and Sky Bridge areas of the Gorge, and the general Gorge area. The return trip will swing through the eastern Bluegrass around Mt. Sterling.

The cost of the tour is $8 per person, plus lunch at Natural Bridge State Park.

For more information, contact Dr. Roland Burns at (606)783-3187.

Dr. Norfleet Heads Stuart Group

MSU President Morris L. Norfleet has been elected to a two-year term as board chairman of the Jesse Stuart Foundation, Inc.

Organized in 1979, the Foundation is dedicated to preserving the legacy of Jesse Stuart, his birthplace at W-Hollow and the Appalachian way of life.

Primary activities include the preservation of the Stuart homestead in Greenup County and perpetuation of Mr. Stuart's literary works.

Dr. Norfleet previously served as a member of the Foundation's Board of Directors and was among the founders of the organization.

President Active in Washington

President Norfleet was in Washington last week to represent the American Association of State Colleges and Universities (AASCU) in accreditation discussions with the American Assembly of Collegiate Schools of Business (AACSB).

Dr. Norfleet said the sessions involved a review of the AACSB accrediting standards which many public institutions, including MSU, have found to be unrealistic from a budgetary standpoint.

While in Washington, he also conferred with U.S. Rep. Carl D. Perkins on the status of federal financial aid legislation. Dr. Norfleet is involved in congressional matters through his membership on the AASCU Federal Relations Committee.

People in the News

DR. BRUCE MATTINGLY, psychology, has had an article entitled "The Effect of Parachlorophenylalanine and Scopolamine on Passive Avoidance" published in the recent issue of the international journal "Pharmacology, Biochemistry and Behavior."

TED MARSHALL, social work, gave a presentation on "Teenage Parenting" on June 11 to the Kentucky Home Economics Teachers Association.

Speakers Bureau

Recent Speakers Bureau participants include:

DR. RUTH BARNES, English, Mt. Sterling Nursing Home and The Mt. Sterling Episcopal Church.

KEN TRIVETTE, basketball, Y.M.C.A., Ashland.

RANDY MCCOY, basketball, Lawrence County High School, with KEN TRIVETTE. Also Russell High School and Greenup County High School.

DR. JACK PETERS, time management, Licking Valley Girl Scout Council, Hillsboro.

STEVE LONEY, football, Laurel County High School.

Summer I enrollment highest

In terms of numbers of students, MSU is experiencing one of the most productive summers in its 59-year history.

University Registrar Gene A. Ranvier has reported the largest enrollment ever for a five-week summer session and Dr. Rondal D. Hart, director of admissions, has announced that pre-registration of incoming freshmen for the fall semester has surpassed the previous mark and probably will go higher.

Since converting to a summer calendar of two five-week terms instead of a single eight-week session after 1976, MSU's best Summer I enrollment had been the 2,199 of 1980. However, this year's Summer I final count is 2,294, according to Ranvier.

Registration for MSU's second summer session is scheduled Monday, July 6, with classes starting the next day. Registration will be conducted in the Crager Room of the ADUC.

Based on the summer pre-registration total of 1,008 for three days with the final session set for July 24, MSU apparently is headed for its fifth straight increase in new freshmen students for the fall semester, Dr. Hart said.

"Higher numbers in the summer pre-registration and orientation program have always been followed by increases in the total figures for the fall," he stated. "This is the first time we have had more than 1,000 students pre-register in the first three days. And we are hopeful of another 200 on July 24."

"At a time when many institutions are faced with a decline in enrollment, we are heartened by these summer statistics," said President Norfleet. "We interpret the growth as evidence that the University is meeting the needs of its constituents."

Hoopsters come to camp

MSU's Boys Basketball Camp has a session scheduled July 26-31 for hoopsters from age 6 through 12 and Coach Wayne Martin reports that a few openings remain.

In addition to playing with and against youngsters their own age, campers will utilize MSU's recently-opened Academic-Athletic Center, the new home of the basketball Eagles and Lady Eagles.

Additional information is available from Coach Martin at 783-3336.

Parker is CBN hostess

Kathryn Parker of Wilmore, a graduate student in communications at MSU, will appear as hostess of her own national television show airing in September.

Miss Parker, the 1979 Miss Kentucky and a graduate of Asbury College, has interrupted her studies to join the Christian Broadcasting Network (CBN). Her syndicated, half-hour show from Virginia Beach, Va., will be shot on location.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Parker of Wilmore, she began her career in television as a student newscaster at MSU.

She also was master of ceremonies for the 1981 Miss MSU Scholarship Pageant.

Miss Parker was employed at MSU as a graduate assistant in the Personal Development Institute, Division of Admissions and Office of Development.

Water workshop set

MSU is hosting a Water Treatment Workshop July 6 through 10.

The five day event includes classroom sessions covering the basic bacteria content control of water and required mathematics for formulating water purifying chemicals.

The workshop instructor is Ken Howard of the Kentucky Department of Natural Resources and Environmental Protection.

Examinations for the state water treatment license are scheduled at the close of the workshop.

More information is available from Roger Hilderbrand, MSU Power Plant Manager, at 783-3116.

Netter invited to Wimbledon

MSU Tennis star Charmaine Olivier has been selected to participate in the Wimbledon Junior Tennis Championships in England, beginning June 29.

The No. 1 player on MSU's Lady Eagle tennis team this past spring, Olivier was one of only 48 junior women in the world selected for the competition.

In her first season at MSU, Olivier's honors included All-Ohio Valley Conference, All-AIAW Regional and fifth place finish in the AIAW Division II nationals.

An 18-year old freshman, Olivier came to MSU from Salisbury, Zimbabwe.

Men's cage schedule set

MSU Director of Athletics G. E. Moran has announced a 26-game schedule for MSU's Eagle basketball team for the 1981-82 season.

Coach Wayne Martin's charges will open the regular season hosting their own McDonald's Eagle Classic, Nov. 30-Dec. 1, featuring MSU, Cleveland State, South Carolina State and Western Illinois.

Other non-conference encounters include home contests with Eastern Illinois, Alabama-Huntsville, Clinch Valley and Indiana-Southeast.

The Eagle road schedule is highlighted by contests with nationally-ranked Louisville in Freedom Hall, a slot in Stetson University's Hatter Classic in DeLand, Fla. and a trip to Bowling Green State.

MSU's Ohio Valley Conference slate kicks off Dec. 10 at home in the newly-opened Academic-Athletic Center against Middle Tennessee.

Other conference foes include Eastern Kentucky, Western Kentucky, Murray State, Austin Peay, Tennessee Tech, Akron and Youngstown State.

In addition to the regular schedule, the Eagles will host the Marathon Oil AAU team of Lexington in an exhibition game on Wednesday, Nov. 18.

6 accepted to med school

Six MSU students have joined the list of elite individuals accepted to Kentucky medical schools.

Individuals selected include:

Myra Collins of West Liberty, Brenda Castle of Prestonsburg, Jim Noble of Beattyville and Mauverine Hall of Morehead - - University of Kentucky School of Medicine; Carol Kulp of Campbellsville and Michael Watts of Louisville - - University of Louisville School of Medicine.

People in the news

PATSY WHITSON, social work, has received a grant to participate in the 1981 Summer Institute for Study in Gerontology at the University of Southern California's Ethel Percy Andrus Gerontology Center.

DR. DEAN OWEN AND DR. HAROLD ROSE recently had an article published in the "Journal of Adult Literacy and Basic Education" entitled "Teaching the Disabled Adult."

DR. DEAN OWEN AND DR. BILL WEIKEL, adult, counseling, and higher education, recently had an article published in the "Pennsylvania Journal of Counseling" entitled "Social Anxiety: The Unmerry-go-round of Shyness."

Elderhostel II: an international event Computer Workshop ongoing

MSU will host its first International Elderhostel July 12 through 19.

Elderhostel is in its second year at MSU but this is the first time that foreign citizens will be involved. The group of 50 includes 21 residents of London, England.

During their stay here, the Britishers will study Appalachian heritage and history, folk culture and tour such sites as Red River Gorge, Carter Caves, Cave Run Lake and the Kentucky Horse Park.

The Elderhostel Program is based on the youth hostels and folk schools of Europe, but guided by the needs of older citizens for intellectual and physical stimulation. Participants live on campus and attend classes and other activities.

MSU is among more than 400 colleges and universities in the United States and Canada involved in Elderhostel.

Eleven area junior high school students are currently attending a Micro-Computer Workshop, sponsored by MSU's Department of Mathematical Sciences.

The week-long camp concentrates on the programming and use of hobby-sized computers built for home use.

"We want to give these young people some experience with personal sized computers in order to begin their orientation to computers in general," explains Dr. Glenn Johnston, Head, Department of Mathematical Sciences.

The camp will continue July 13 through 17 with senior high school students from throughout Eastern Kentucky participating.

Additional information is available from Dr. Glenn Johnston at 783-3107.

"Little Mary Sunshine" opens

Cave Run Musical Theatre opens its production of "Little Mary Sunshine" on Wednesday, July 8, 8:30 p.m. at the Twin Knobs Recreation Area.

The production is a musical spoof of old-time operetta favorites like "Rose Marie" and "Naughty Marietta." Its deliberately corny songs and naive situations poke fun at all the cliches of the innocent musicals our grandparents reveled in.

Harriet Leidy, senior from Ft. Mitchell, will portray "Little Mary Sunshine", and Rick Wayman of Rapid City, South Dakota, plays the part of General Fairfax.

Productions are scheduled for 8:30 p.m. Reservations are available at 783-2170.

ROTC cadet commissioned

Tammy L. Griffith, MSU spring graduate from Somerset, has received her commission as a second lieutenant in the United States Army.

LT Griffith, a recreation major, will begin officer basic school at Aberdeen Proving Grounds, Maryland, on Sept. 16.

First place performer

Ken Baldauf, MSU senior from Chicago, took first place Saturday in the July 4th Bluegrass Banjo Competition at the Trademore Shopping Center.

He was accompanied by Steve Leslie, senior music major from Louisville, on guitar.

The first place award included $150, and was sponsored by the Trademore Merchants Association.

Lady Eagle cage scheduled set

MSU Director of Athletics G. E. Moran has announced a 26-game slate for the Lady Eagle basketball squad for 1981-82.

Coach Mickey Wells' charges will open the season at home in the newly opened Academic-Athletic Center Nov. 20-21 as they host the second Lady Eagle Invitational Tournament, featuring MSU, Akron, Radford and Kent State.

Other opponents include home and home contests with Ohio Valley Conference rivals Eastern Kentucky, Western Kentucky, Murray State, Austin Peay, Middle Tennessee and Tennessee Tech.

Non-conference home dates include Miami (Ohio), University of Charleston, Louisville, Marshall and Dayton.

Highlighting the road schedule is an appearance in the East Tennessee State Invitational Dec. 18-19 and games at Northern Kentucky, Ohio State, Ohio University, Marshall and Louisville.

The Lady Eagles posted a 17-14 record last season, including a second place finish in the Kentucky Women's Intercollegiate Conference.

People in the news

RICHARD FIELD, art, has had a bronze sculpture accepted for exhibition in the 3rd Annual River City Art Competition in Ceredo, West Virginia.

Food service personnel meet

More than 150 food service personnel will attend a School Food Service Workshop at MSU July 20-21.

Food service managers, supervisors, and workers from elementary and high schools across Kentucky will participate.

Classes include nutrition, food preparation, cost accounting and supervision.

Coordinating the workshop are Helen Pennington, Kentucky Department of Education, School Food Service Division, and Nancy Graham, instructor of home economics at MSU.

Band camps open

MSU will host a series of four marching band camps beginning Sunday, July 19.

More than 900 high school band members from throughout Kentucky will participate in the week-long sessions learning the basic fundamentals of marching and preparing for fall competition.

The camps mark the opening of the high school marching band season.

Coordinator for the camps is Eugene C. Norden, assistant professor of music.

Final orientation set

MSU will host its final session of summer orientation and early registration for incoming freshmen on Friday, July 24.

Academic advising and pre-registration for fall classes are scheduled during the day-long program.

Activities will begin at 9 a.m. on the third floor of the ADUC.

Horsemanship clinic planned

The Derrickson Agricultural Complex is the scheduled site of MSU's first Horsemanship Clinic, set for Saturday, July 25 at 8 a.m.

Participants are asked to bring their own horses and those without horses are invited to attend and observe.

Instruction will be provided on showing principles, riding and training techniques for young and older horses and feeding and health problems. Stall and feed will be available for the day.

Instructors for the day-long clinic include Dr. Kenneth Clever, coordinator of MSU's Veterinary Technology program and Bud Claxon, Grayson farrier specializing in corrective shoeing.

Additional information is available from Dr. Judy Willard, assistant professor of agriculture, at 783-3325.

Baseball signees named

MSU Baseball Coach Steve Hamilton has announced the signing of two Kentucky high school seniors to national letters-of-intent.

Signed were Rob Williams, a 6-2, 190 right-handed pitcher from Campbell County High School and Ronnie Sawyers, a 5-11, 140 shortstop from Laurel County High School.

"I feel Rob has the ability and potential to be a winner in collegiate baseball," stated Hamilton. "He is a hard thrower and should help us immediately."

"Ronnie is an adequate hitter, but his strengths are the accuracy of his arm and the quickness of his hands," Hamilton added. "He makes all the plays, and that's important for a shortstop."

Williams is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Williams of Alexandria and was coached in high school by Tom Mohr. Sawyers is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Sawyers of London and was coached in high school by G. J. Smith.

MSU's latest signees join Drew Hall of Ashland on the list of baseball recruits.

Neiman-Marcus to buy crafts

Kentucky craftspeople who practice a craft native to the region and representative of the Appalachian Heritage will get a rare opportunity at MSU on Thursday, July 23.

Buyers from the Neiman-Marcus' Appalachian Crafts Shop, Neiman-Marcus is an internationally famous department store chain, will be on the MSU campus from 4 until 5 p.m., in the Academic-Athletic Complex.

Jointly sponsored by the Kentucky Department of the Arts, Craft Division, and the Appalachian Development Center, the show will provide participants an opportunity to develop a steady market outlet for their wares.

Those who wish to participate need to make available a representative sample of their work, establish a wholesale price for each item, and be ready to make a commitment to the production of a specific number of items within a specified time.

Neiman-Marcus representatives will not make actual purchases at the time of the show but will evaluate works on display, secure information about such items, and secure craftspeople's names and addresses. Orders will be placed at a later date.

Prior to the afternoon show, a workshop, "The Business of Being a Craftspeople," will be conducted in the ADUC. Topics to be highlighted include wholesaling, packaging,

Governor cuts state budget...again

Gov. John Y. Brown Jr. announced Wednesday that state general fund support of MSU and other state institutions and agencies would be reduced again for 1981-82 because of an anticipated $100 million shortfall in state revenue.

President Norfleet issued the following statement in response to the Governor's announcement:

"We have committed ourselves to making the best of this situation. Our operating budget will be reduced in the amount of $686,900 in accordance with the Governor's directive. The specifics of our plan will be submitted to the Board of Regents in the near future. At this point, we do not anticipate any changes in compensation or employment status for the current faculty and staff members of the University. However, existing personnel vacancies have been frozen and will be considered on an individual basis and only in cases of extreme need. We will make every effort to avoid reducing budgetary allocations to student services and student financial aid."

CASE president to address grads

Dr. James L. Fisher, president of the Council for Advancement and Support of Education (CASE), will be featured speaker at MSU's summer commencement on Friday, Aug. 7.

More than 400 persons are candidates for associate, baccalaureate or graduate degrees during the 10 a.m. ceremony in MSU's Academic-Athletic Center.

Chief executive of CASE since 1978, Dr. Fisher is a former president of Towson State University and vice president of Illinois State University. He was selected in 1975 as one of the nation's top 50 college presidents.

The author of more than 60 publications, Dr. Fisher is a registered psychologist and former White House advisor. He holds a doctorate from Northwestern University where he served as assistant director of admissions and counseling. His academic career began at the high school level in Illinois in 1957.

Dr. Fisher currently is serving on the governing boards of three colleges. He holds two honorary doctoral degrees.

CASE, based in Washington, D.C., was formed in 1974 through the merger of the American Alumni Council and American College Public Relations Association. As the principal advancement arm of American higher education, CASE embraces campus professionals involved in alumni relations, educational fund raising, information services, publications and governmental and community relations.

Sports information office moved

Sports Information Director Jim Wells has announced the relocation of the Office of Sports Information.

Formerly located on the third floor of Allie Young Hall, the Office of Sports Information will be located on the ground floor of the new Academic-Athletic Center in Room 154.

The telephone number for the SID will be 783-3100, while mail should be sent to UPO 1023.

Dr. Paul Ford Davis, professor of education at MSU, has been named chairman of the Education and Scholarship Committee of The American Legion, Department of Kentucky.

He was selected for the statewide post by Department Commander John O.F. Ellis.

WMKY airs baseball special

Do you know baseball as well as you think you do?

WMKY FM-90, MSU's campus radio station, and National Public Radio puts you to the test Aug. 1 from 1-5 p.m. with a baseball trivia special "The NPR All-Stars---The Great Trivia Game."

The four-hour special will feature a panel of baseball experts, pros and amateurs, posing some of their all-time favorite baseball trivia questions to a nationwide audience and answering the questions on a coast-to-coast phone-in.

Panel members will write their own questions, designed to stump not only the audience but other panel members, with correct answers assigned point values during each hour of play.

Scheduled panelists include Frank DeFord of "Sports Illustrated," Steve Harvey of the Los Angeles Times, Lou Boudreau, the voice of the Chicago Cubs and manager and Most Valuable Player for the champion 1948 Cleveland Indians, and Red Barber, veteran broadcaster and NPR Morning Edition sports commentator. Umpire, referee and ultimate authority will be Neal Conan, NPR's New York based correspondent.

Those listeners wishing to get into the action are asked to call (202) 857-0888 in Washington. You will be placed directly onto the air with your answers.

For more information, contact Becky Hixon, WMKY director of promotion and development, at (606) 783-3371.

President Norfleet Addresses the latest budget cuts

(The following statement was issued by President Norfleet at a press conference on Wednesday, July 29, 1981)

As you are aware, our Fiscal Year 1982 Operating Budget has been reduced again. The continuing economic recession in the state has prompted Governor Brown to reduce another $100 million or 5% from the Fiscal Year '82 revenue estimates. Higher education, of course, must absorb a share of the cut.

The Morehead State University Board of Regents approved an Educational and General Operations Budget last month of $26.7 million. The budget reflected a State General Fund appropriation of $19,026,700. As a result of this latest cut, our Fiscal Year 1982 General Fund support will be $18,339,800, a decrease of $686,900. This cut, coupled with the previous budget reductions, has resulted in Morehead State University trimming $1.8 million from what the Governor originally recommended and from what the General Assembly approved for Morehead State University in the original 1980-82 Executive Budget. This represents about a 9% reduction in State General Fund support from anticipated levels.

As a result of the first two recurring budget cuts, we have eliminated 43 permanent positions from the University. We did this primarily through attrition. Like last year, I am again committed to maintaining all salary levels and contractual obligations already in place. This will require the administration to look further for ways to realign and economize the programs and services provided by Morehead State University.

Higher education is a labor intensive operation. More than 70% of our Fiscal Year '82 funds are for salaries and wages. When you reduce positions, you affect services and programs. Higher education can no longer absorb the loss in revenues experienced the last two years without materially affecting our ability to address this Institution's primary mission.

The effort will require essentially a two-phase approach with Phase II being the most critical internal review in the 59-year history of this Institution.

Phase I - Fiscal Year 1982

- A continuation of the hiring freeze I imposed on July 14, when first apprised of the probability of this budget reduction. Each position currently in the freeze will be evaluated as to the impact on delivery of current year services. If deemed critical, some positions will be filled and others left vacant throughout the year.

- A reduction in faculty and staff supply and travel budgets. Funds primarily used to encourage professional development will be reduced.

- The use of non-recurring fund sources to meet major budgeted expenditure items, such as library books and educational equipment.

- As a result of using the non-recurring funds to meet recurring expenses, some planned maintenance, renovations and repair projects will be cancelled.

Phase II - Fiscal Year 1982-84

- Review all non-instructional programs in the University to see if those programs are contributing to the primary mission of the Institution. Emphasis will be on programs and services that can be consolidated, streamlined, or eliminated for immediate dollar savings.

- Review all instructional programs in the University and identify those programs that can be consolidated, streamlined, or eliminated. Emphasis will be on dollar savings in Fiscal Year '83 and Fiscal Year '84.

As we have looked at our situation, there's no way that our programs can be cut to this extent without having an impact on quality. We have taken the path of making reductions while attempting to preserve quality as much as possible. We are trying to protect four basic areas: (1) salary increments, (2) contracts in force, (3) student services, and (4) student financial aid.

I hope that everyone realizes the severity of this situation. We are not cutting fat from our budget. This is not fat, this is muscle. And we're down to the bone and even to the marrow in some areas. I do not want to leave the impression that this is something we can give up without hurting. It does hurt. But we feel it is our responsibility to shoulder our share of the burden along with other state agencies.

MSU Scholar Bowl champs

Regional high school students and MSU recently teamed up to win a state championship.

The MSU Upward Bound program, a six-week summer adventure for 117 high school students from Eastern Kentucky, received state-wide recognition when the Scholar Bowl team defeated five other teams for the state title.

Seven members of the team traveled to Frankfort to qualify through elimination competition. Following several hours of questions in such categories as science, mathematics, current events and American literature, the team defeated Murray State University for the trophy.

"The MSU Scholar Bowl team faced stiff competition from the other participating schools," said Diane Tabor, coordinator of the Upward Bound Program.

Other schools with Upward Bound teams in the competition included Berea College, Eastern Kentucky University, University of Louisville, Kentucky State University, and Murray State University.

People in the news

Emge named academic VP

Dr. Walter G. Emge of Lexington assumed his duties Monday as MSU's vice president for academic affairs and dean of the faculty.

He came to MSU after five years as academic vice president of Transylvania University. Previously, he was assistant to the provost and assistant dean of Trinity College of Arts and Sciences at Duke University and a member of the philosophy faculty at Boston University.

Dr. Emge has a doctoral degree from Yale University, a master's from the University of Toronto and a bachelor's from Bellarmine College.

"We are pleased to have such an experienced academic administrator with Kentucky ties in this important position," said President Norfleet. "Dr. Emge has an outstanding personal record of teaching, research and service and he also has excellent academic credentials."

Dr. Norfleet said the new academic vice president was selected from nearly 100 applicants. Dr. Emge succeeds Dr. William F. White who is now a full-time faculty member.

Dr. Emge's appointment is subject to approval of the Board of Regents.

1981-82 Concert and Lecture Series

MSU's Concert and Lecture Series Committee is bringing five top-name performances to campus during the 1981-82 school year and all programs are free and open to the public.

Dr. Sue Luckey, committee chairperson, has announced the following series:

*Sept. 26 -- David Letterman in concert at 8:30 p.m. in the Academic-Athletic Center. Co-sponsored by the MSU Student Association, the event will also feature Livingston Taylor and is part of Parents Weekend activities scheduled Sept. 25-27.

*Oct. 22 -- Frederic Storaska, 10:20 a.m. in Button Auditorium. The author of "How to Say No To A Rapist--And Survive," will be making his second appearance at MSU. Storaska has devoted his complete resources and energies to understanding and solving the problems of assaults on men, women and children.

*Jan. 28 -- Teddy Wilson Trio at 8 p.m. in Button Auditorium. A legendary jazz musician, Wilson probably is best remembered as the pianist in the Benny Goodman Quartet.

*March 25 -- "Best of Hollywood" in Button Auditorium at 8 p.m. A company of twelve actor-singer-dancers will perform some of the best of Hollywood's songs in a nostalgic look at the development of American motion picture music.

*April 22 -- John Bay as Groucho Marx in "An Elephant in My Pajamas" at 8 p.m. in Button Auditorium. A one-man show bringing to life some of the best of the reknowned Groucho Marx, John Bay has appeared in numerous stage, radio, TV and film productions around the world. "An Elephant in My Pajamas" was first seen at England's Chichester Festival in 1978.

Duncan appointed as regent

Robert M. (Mike) Duncan, president of Inez Deposit Bank, has become the first person to be named to a six-year term on the MSU Board of Regents.

Appointed recently by Gov. John Y. Brown Jr. to succeed Sam F. Kibbey of Grayson, Duncan will serve through March 31, 1987. He is the first MSU regent to be appointed since a new law took effect to extend the terms from four years to six.

A graduate of Cumberland College and the University of Kentucky College of Law, the 30-year-old banker also serves on the boards of Alice Lloyd College and Highland Regional Medical Center. He is president of the Martin County Kiwanis Club.

"We are delighted with Gov. Brown's decision to appoint Mr. Duncan to our Board of Regents and we are confident that he will prove to be an asset to the board and to the institution," said MSU President Morris L. Norfleet. "At the same time, we are most appreciative of Mr. Kibbey's faithful service on the board for the past eight years and we extend best wishes for his success in future endeavors."

Duncan is married to the former Joanne Kirk of Inez. They have a son.

Conn on KHC board

Philip W. Conn, MSU's vice president for university and regional services, has been appointed campus associate to the Kentucky Humanities Council for 1981-82.

Ralph Janis, executive director of KHC, has announced that Mr. Conn and eight other persons at Kentucky colleges and universities have been selected to inaugurate a system of communication between faculty members and the Humanities Council.

Specifically, Mr. Conn's duties are to talk informally with faculty and staff members about current KHC policies, about ideas for projects proposed by off-campus groups and institutions in Eastern Kentucky.

The Kentucky Humanities Council is the primary source of grant funds from the National Endowment for the Humanities.

"Gameplan" airs on WMKY

WMKY FM Radio will be kicking off a unique football program on Sept. 9 for listeners to savor with their morning bacon and eggs.

"Gameplan," a 30-minute show featuring MSU Head Football Coach Steve Loney, will be broadcast live from Jerry's Restaurant on Main Street in Morehead where Loney will field questions from restaurant patrons and listeners.

"We're going to set up a microphone in the restaurant for people who wish to come up and ask Coach Loney a question," explains Rick Hesterburg, WMKY sports director and host of the new show. "We're also going to have a phoneline into Jerry's so listeners can call in questions and talk with the coach on the air."

The Sept. 9 show comes three days before MSU's opening game at Marshall. "Gameplan" will be aired each Wednesday during the season at 7:30 a.m.

MSU Women's Club meets

The MSU's Women's Club will hold its first meeting of the fall semester on Thursday, Sept. 10, at 7 p.m. in the Patty Bolin Room of the Lloyd Cassity Building.

The featured speaker will be Dr. George Dickinson, head of MSU's Department of Sociology, making a presentation entitled "On Death and Dying."

Elmer Anderson named to head MSU Foundation, Inc.

Elmer D. Anderson, MSU's director of student financial aid and assistant to the president, ended a 15-year association with the University when he retired effective Sept. 1.

However, his retirement will be brief. He assumes new duties on Sept. 15 as the first full-time executive director of the MSU Foundation, Inc.

"We are pleased that Mr. Anderson is available and willing to accept this new challenge to continue his dedicated service to the University," said President Norfleet, who also serves as chief executive of the foundation.

Anderson succeeds Dr. Rondal D. Hart, director of admissions, who has been executive director on a part-time, volunteer basis since it was created in October, 1979.

Established under state law as a non-profit corporation, the MSU Foundation is a tax exempt organization under Section 501 (c) (3) of the Internal Revenue Code. It has been designated by the MSU Board of Regents to receive and administer gifts on behalf of the University.

Anderson, who will be paid by the foundation, will share office space with the MSU Office of Development in 801 Ginger Hall.

"I look forward to working with alumni, parents, local citizens and other friends of Morehead State University who are interested in providing financial support to this institution," said Anderson.

The Morgan County native joined MSU's administrative staff in 1966 after serving as a teacher, coach, high school principal, pupil personnel director and assistant superintendent in the public schools of Morgan County.

He is a former president of the Kentucky Association of Student Financial Aid Administrators and member of the Grant Advisory Board of the Kentucky Higher Education Assistance Authority. He also holds membership in several other professional organizations.

A two-time graduate of MSU, Mr. Anderson is a Shriner and an elder in the First Christian Church of Morehead. He is married to the former Elizabeth Carpenter of Woodsbend. Mrs. Anderson is a retired faculty member at MSU.

In addition to the selection of Mr. Anderson, the Foundation Board of Trustees also:

**Established the "Parents Fund" for the processing of gifts to MSU from the soon-to-be-organized MSU Parents Association.

**Designated a seat on the board for the president of the Parents Association.

**Reelected Billy Joe Hall of Mt. Sterling as vice president and Helen Northcutt of Morehead as secretary and elected Phillip M. Tackett of Morehead as treasurer. Dr. Norfleet serves as president by virtue of his position with the University.

**Appointed Dan Lacy of Russell to fill the unexpired term of Dolores Redwine, formerly of Ashland, and selected John Dupuy III of Pikeville for a previously-unfilled three-year term.

*Accepted the 1981-82 financial report reflecting cash income of $85,170.59, disbursements of $63,821.51 and a July 1 balance of $42,139.79. The figures do not include $38,335.84 handled by the Eagle Athletic Fund, a subsidiary of the Foundation.

'80-81 giving tops $267,000

In its first coordinated, professionally managed fund raising program, the University received gifts totaling $267,887.40, it has been announced.

MSU's 1980-81 Report of Giving, for the fiscal year ending June 30, was made public at last Thursday's meeting of the MSU Foundation Board of Trustees.

President Norfleet described the gift total as "a remarkable and most welcome beginning." Later, the foundation board adopted a resolution of commendation for the staff of the Office of Development, including Keith Kappes, Don Russell, Ron Wolfe and Lois Bradley.

Of the total, $149,895.82 was channeled to MSU through the Foundation. The balance of $117,991.58 was given directly to the University.

MSU's 423 benefactors in 1980-81 included 65 corporations and businesses and 24 foundations and other organizations.

(cont'd from Page 1)

The summary includes $30,106.02 for MSU's greatest needs, $36,600 in livestock and related equipment, $936.96 for alumni projects, $10,250 for the Claude Killpatrick Professorship in Banking, $11,171 for various departments, schools and campus organizations, $50,095.84 for the Eagle Athletic Fund, $37,138.40 as a capital gift for the completion of construction of the Energy Research Laboratory, $29,822 in art and literary works and $61,767.18 for scholarship aid.

The total gift figure does not reflect another $21,371.16 which was routed through the University's Division of Student Financial Aid to underwrite scholarships for specific individuals.

New VP to be honored

The University Social Committee and the Search Committee for the Academic Vice President of MSU invite all faculty and staff members to a coffee hour honoring Dr. Walter Emge, newly appointed vice president for academic affairs and dean of the faculty.

The event is scheduled for Sept. 10 in the ADUC Eagle Room from 2:30 p.m. until 4:30 p.m.

Pep rally kicks off season

Help MSU's Eagles kick-off a great season of football.

All faculty and staff members are invited to attend a Pep Rally on Thursday, Sept. 10 at Jayne Stadium beginning at 7:30 p.m.

The Eagles will begin the season with a game at Marshall University in Huntington on Sept. 12 at 7 p.m.

Your participation will provide excellent motivation for the team and the coaches.

Tourism info needed

Each year, Kentucky's Department of Tourism distributes approximately 100,000 calendars detailing activities of interest going on throughout the state.

The calendars include such events as festivals, community celebrations, hobby shows, concerts, theatrical productions, tours and excursions scheduled from April through October.

If you are officially connected with any of these activities and would like to see them included, contact the Morehead Tourism Commission by Sept. 15 at P.O. Box 66, Morehead, KY 40351. The telephone contact person is Reuel Buchanan at 784-6221.

Appliance sale scheduled

MSU's Department of Home Economics will hold their annual two-day appliance sale Sept. 10 and 11 between the hours of 10 a.m. and 12 noon and 1 until 3 p.m.

Whirlpool appliances, in white only, included in the sale are:

- *2 - 40 inch Electric Ranges
- *3 - Automatic Clothes Washers
- *1 - Automatic Clothes Dryer
- *2 - Automatic Portable Dishwashers
- *1 - Microwave Oven
- *1 - Refrigerator Freezer

Sales are cash only, with a $20 rebate for MSU employees.

All appliances are 9 months old and come with a 90 day warranty.

Appliances can be seen in MSU's Lloyd Cassity Building, Room 100. The telephone number for inquiries is 783-2280.

Parents Weekend set Sept. 25-27

MSU is observing its annual Parents Weekend Sept. 25-27 with several activities, including the MSU-Middle Tennessee football game on Saturday, Sept. 26. Parents are entitled to half-price tickets if accompanied by a son or daughter who attend MSU. The kickoff is set for 1:30 p.m. at Jayne Stadium.

Also, parents may stay in campus residence halls and take advantage of luncheon specials on Sept. 26 and 27 at the University Center Cafeteria.

Activities on Friday, Sept. 25, include a boat ride on Cave Run Lake, recreational sports, a movie and "get acquainted" parties in campus residence halls.

President and Mrs. Norfleet will host a continental breakfast for parents at 8:30 a.m. on Saturday, Sept. 26. Academic facilities will be open for tours at 9:30 a.m. The organizational meeting of the MSU Parents Association is scheduled at 11 a.m.

A Student Association concert featuring comedian David Letterman and singer Livingston Taylor is set at 8:30 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 26, in MSU's new Academic-Athletic Center. The annual Parents Weekend Golf Tournament will be Sunday, Sept. 27, at 10 a.m. at the MSU course.

"We extend a cordial invitation to the parents of all our students to visit the campus for Parents Weekend," said President Norfleet. "This has become one of our most popular weekends and we look forward to another outstanding schedule of events."

Guest lodging available

Limited space is available for University personnel interested in bringing conferences or groups to campus and needing overnight lodging, according to Jim Morton, director, division of student housing.

Presently, there are 77 rooms for men in Butler Hall on the 2nd, 3rd, and 4th floors. Each room contains two single beds and one double deck bed. Four males can be housed in each room for a total of 308.

Waterfield Hall's north wing has 34 rooms open for women on the 4th and 5th floors. Each room contains two single beds and one double deck bed for a capacity of 136.

Rooms will be available in both Waterfield and Butler Hall's for use during Parents Weekend Sept. 25-27.

For additional information, contact Morton, 302 Howell-McDowell Administration Building. The telephone number is 783-3323 or 783-3825.

Dr. Williams opens lecture series

Eastern Kentucky's unique history and culture will be the theme of a six-part lecture series, "Our Mountain Heritage," to be presented during the 1981-82 fall and spring semesters at MSU.

Sponsored by MSU's Appalachian Development Center, the series is being funded by a grant from the S & H Foundation Lectureship Program which was established in 1960 as part of the Sperry and Hutchinson Company's Program of Aid to Education.

"Our Mountain Heritage" lecture series will enrich college and university curricula by providing faculty, students and the public access to the training and expertise of notable scholars and other professionals.

The lecture series begins Thursday, Sept. 17, at 8 p.m., in MSU's Reed Auditorium with a presentation by Cratis Williams on "The Early Settlement of Appalachian Kentucky."

Dr. Williams, a native of Lawrence County, is known as the father of Appalachian studies. He was dean of the graduate school at Appalachian State University in Boone, N.C., for 16 years and currently is special assistant to the chancellor at ASU.

Dr. Williams punctuates his lectures by spontaneously breaking into song and by emphasizing the meaning of his words through dynamic facial, body and hand gestures.

Other lectures in the series include: Oct. 15, "The Political Tradition of Appalachian Kentucky," by Gordon McKinney; Nov. 12, "Labor Conflict in Appalachian Kentucky," by John Hevener; Feb. 11, "Land Ownership in Appalachian Kentucky," by John Gaventa; March 8, "The Women of Appalachian Kentucky: A Historical and Cultural Overview," by Sharon Lord; April 29, "The Future of Appalachain Kentucky," by Jim Wayne Miller

Credit Union hours posted

The Morehead State University Federal Credit Union will observe the following hours for the fall 1981 semester:

*Monday -- 2-4:30 p.m.

*Tuesday -- 8-10 a.m.

*Wednesday -- 2-4:30 p.m.

*Thursday -- 2-4:30 p.m.

*Friday -- 2-4:30 p.m.

MSU Federal Credit Union members have until Oct. 1 to enter the Television Giveaway Contest. Anyone who increases their payroll deductions by $5 or more is eligible to win.

The MSU Federal Credit Union is located in Room 306 of the Howell McDowell Building, ext. 2231.

F/S receive ID cards

Included with monthly payroll checks, faculty and staff members will find an Identification Card with name and title on the front.

These ID cards are a free service of the University and are helpful in check cashing and other business transactions.

Participation is strictly voluntary.

Those wishing to activate ID cards should complete the information on the back of the card and take it to Room 31 of Allie Young Hall during the week of Oct. 5-9 between the hours of 1:30 and 4:30 p.m.

Recital features Dr. Wilkey

Dr. Jay Wilkey, professor of church music at Southern Baptist Theological Seminary in Louisville, will present a guest vocal recital at Duncan Recital Hall on Tuesday, Sept. 15.

The baritone vocalist will be accompanied by pianist Martha Powell, music librarian and adjunct professor of church music at Southern Baptist Theological Seminary.

Dr. Wilkey's program will include works by John Carpenter and Gabriel Faure.

The 8:15 p.m. recital is free and open to the public.

"AIM" series opens Sept. 23

The first season performance in the "Arts in Morehead Series" is scheduled for Wednesday, Sept. 23 in Button Auditorium.

The 8 p.m. concert will feature the Jack Daniel's Silver Coronet Band.

Tickets are $5 at the door. Season tickets are available at $25 per family or $12.50 per person.

Gov. Brown coming to MSU

Gov. John Y. Brown Jr. is coming to Morehead next Monday, Sept. 28, and will make an appearance at MSU as part of his continuing "Government to the People" program.

The governor's helicopter is scheduled to land near Jayne Stadium shortly before 11 a.m. He will meet shortly thereafter with the public in the Circuit Courtroom of the new courthouse. He will be the guest of honor at a 12:45 p.m. luncheon in the Crager Room of the University Center. Gov. Brown will depart at approximately 1:45 p.m. for Hindman.

The luncheon is open to the public. Tickets will be available at the door.

President Norfleet said of the governor's visit:

"I encourage faculty and staff members and student to attend both of the public events. Gov. Brown has made it clear that these trips are intended to give Kentuckians a chance to meet him face-to-face and to ask questions and make suggestions about state government."

Gov. Brown will be making his first visit to the MSU campus since his election in 1979. He will be accompanied by Dr. Grady Stumbo, secretary of the Department for Human Resources.

Newscenter 12 airs Tuesday

Fire destroys poultry house

Three persons escaped injury here Sunday afternoon when fire destroyed a poultry house at MSU's Derrickson Agricultural Complex, three miles north of Morehead.

University officials estimated the loss at $100,000, including 10,000 caged layers valued at $30,000. The building, equipment and chickens were "fully insured," according to John Graham, MSU's vice president for fiscal affairs, and Jack Graves, general manager of Valley Poultry Farms of Ashland.

The University had operated two poultry houses, each with 10,000 layers, as a laboratory for students in agriculture. Chickens and feed are provided by Valley Poultry Farms and MSU supplies the facilities and the labor and then sells the eggs to Valley on a state contract.

The blaze leveled the single-story structure and destroyed several hundred dozen eggs in a storage room. Graves reported that the layers had been producing about 9,000 eggs daily.

Bradley Gray, MSU's farm manager, was supervising two student workers in a feeding operation about 1:30 p.m. when a motorized feed cart erupted in flames. A fire extinguisher was used in an effort to smother the fire but the cart's gasoline tank apparently ruptured and flames shot to the ceiling, forcing Gray and the students to retreat through a door on the opposite end of the 100-foot long building.

By the time firemen from Morehead and Cranston arrived, the facility was engulfed in flames. The firefighters prevented the blaze from spreading to an adjacent house which also contains 10,000 caged layers.

"We are most grateful to the two volunteer fire departments for their timely response and for their efforts in saving the other building and its contents," said MSU President Morris Norfleet. "And, of course, we are thankful that no one was injured."

Dr. Charles M. Derrickson, dean of MSU's School of Applied Sciences and Technology, said the Morehead firemen used generator-powered exhaust fans to save the chickens in the adjacent building from suffocation after the fire interrupted electrical service. MSU workmen rigged a temporary electrical connection and the buildings's ventilation system was restored about two hours after the fire started.

Dr. Norfleet indicated that he would recommend to the Board of Regents that the insurance proceeds be used to rebuild the facility.

Parents Association formed

Dr. and Mrs. Tom Fossett of Morehead were elected co-presidents of the newly-organized MSU Parents Association last Saturday during Parents Weekend 1981.

The more than 200 parents who attended the organizational meeting also selected Judge and Mrs. Gene Cline of Olive Hill as president-elect for the 1981-82 school year.

Buford Crager, vice president for student affairs, was appointed secretary-treasurer of the new group.

President Norfleet described the organizational meeting as "an historic event" and predicted that the Parents Association would become a valuable asset to the University.

Open to the parents or guardians of MSU students and to any other person supporting its purposes, the Parents Association was established for these reasons:

1--To provide parents and others with organized activities aimed at fostering mutually beneficial relationships with the University community.

2--To provide parents and others with opportunities for informal input in the establishment of policies affecting the academic, physical and social development of MSU students.

3--To provide parents and others with timely and pertinent information concerning MSU events and activities.

4--To provide parents and others with opportunities to finance meaningful projects and programs for students through gifts to the Parents Fund of the MSU Foundation, Inc.

5--To encourage other students to enroll at MSU.

Individual and couple memberships range from $10 to $25. Annual meetings will be held during Parents Weekend and other activities will be scheduled during the balance of the year.

Dr. Norfleet told the group that he would recommend to the Board of Regents that the Parents Association be recognized as an affiliated organization of the University.

This is reportedly the first such organization at a public university in Kentucky.

Women's Club meets

MSU's Women's Club will hold its second meeting of the fall semester on Thursday, Oct. 8, at 7:30 p.m. at Perks, Inc.

The featured guest speaker will be Janet Birch with a presentation on microwave cooking.

Recital features Dr. Shockley

Dr. Rebecca Payne Shockley will present a piano recital at MSU Tuesday, Oct. 6.

A native of Cincinnati and a graduate of Indiana University, she holds a Performer's Licentiate from the Royal Academy of Music in London and a Doctor of Musical Arts degree from the University of Colorado.

Dr. Shockley is currently teaching, performing and supervising class piano and pedagogy at Eastern Kentucky University.

The 8:15 program in Duncan Recital Hall is free and open to the public.

Sports shorts

MSU Director of Athletics G. E. Moran has announced the appointment of Jim McClellan of Louisville as MSU's women's volleyball and softball coach.

A 1969 graduate of the University of Louisville, McClellan comes to MSU from Bellarmine College, where his team posted a 27-13 mark last season.

McClellan is a member of the Sports Camp International National Staff and holds a Level II national coaches certification.

* * * * *

Eagle Basketball Coach Wayne Martin has announced that Jack Upchurch, 42, former head basketball coach at Russell High School has been appointed part-time assistant coach at MSU.

An all-OVC performer and graduate of Eastern Kentucky, Upchurch was selected Kentucky High School "Coach of the Year" when he guided Anderson County to a runner-up spot in the Kentucky State Tournament.

A native of Monticello, Upchurch has also served as head coach at Wayne County High School and as president of the Kentucky High School Basketball Coaches Association.

Nine honored, Holdren reigns at Homecoming 1981

Nine persons received special recognition during MSU's 1981 Homecoming Candlelight Dinner on Friday, Oct. 9.

The ceremony was highlighted by the induction of four persons into MSU's Alumni Hall of Fame, including:

*Dr. Marshall Banks, formerly of Ashland, is chairman of the Department of Physical Education and Recreation at Howard University in Washington, D.C. He was the first black athlete to participate in the Ohio Valley Conference while attending MSU. He is the only track and field athlete at MSU to have his jersey retired. Dr. Banks received master's and doctoral degrees from the University of Illinois.

*John R. Hall, formerly of Henderson, Tenn., is vice president for alumni administration of the Council for the Advancement and Support of Education (CASE) in Washington, D.C. He helped plan, design and install facilities for MSU's public radio station, WMKY. A two-time MSU graduate, Hall served as alumni director at Freed-Hardeman College and as director of a choral group performing in Europe and the United States. In his current position, he works nationally with colleges and universities on the improvement of alumni and public relations programs.

*B. Pat O'Rourke, formerly of Falls Church, Va., is vice president of the Economic Education Foundation in Washington, D.C. He is a frequent contributor to MSU's alumni publications and assists in the University's fund raising programs. O'Rourke served as director of development for Georgetown University in Washington and Wheeling College in West Virginia.

*Marvin Rammelsberg is director of the guidance and pupil adjustment branch of the Cincinnati City Schools. As an undergraduate at MSU, he was co-captain of the football team. He is past president of the Ohio Association for Counselor Education and Supervision and served two terms as president of the MSU Alumni Association.

The Public Service Award was presented to Marion D. (Butch) Campbell, commissioner of the Kentucky State Police. Active as a police officer for 17 years, he is married to Glenna Campbell, associate professor of English at MSU.

Gerald V. Roberts, director of the Kentucky Workers Compensation Board and 1970 MSU graduate, was honored with the Government Service Award.

Special service awards were presented to three persons active in support of the Alumni Association including Luster Oxley of Middletown, Md., a retired insurance executive and former president of the Alumni Association; Pauline Davis of Clearfield, recording secretary of the Alumni Association; and Dr. Roger Jones, professor of art at MSU and originator of MSU's eagle mascot cartoon character.

Board of Regents ratifies biennial budget request for '81-'82

Morehead State University's Board of Regents Monday night ratified a budget request of $11.7 million in new state funds for the 1982-84 biennium.

The request, adopted earlier by the board's executive committee, has been submitted to the Kentucky Council on Higher Education for review.

MSU Budget Director Porter Dailey said the proposed 22 percent increase in state general fund support would be used primarily to cope with inflation, increase faculty and staff salaries and supplement student financial aid programs being reduced at the federal level.

For the current fiscal year, MSU is receiving $18.3 million from the state general fund.

In other action, the Regents approved:

*Submission of an additional capital construction and equipment request totaling $1.3 million for a new campus telephone system and renovation of an auditorium.

*The constitution of the newly-organized MSU Parents Association as an affiliated organization.

*Development of plans for the reconstruction of a poultry house which was destroyed by fire last month at the university's agricultural complex. Costs would come from insurance proceeds.

*Various personnel changes, including the appointment of Dr. Walter G. Emge as academic vice president and Dr. Leroy Overstreet as department head in allied health sciences.

The Board adopted the student handbook, "Eagle," for the 1981-82 school year, commending personnel for creating a "superior publication."

Commendations were also cited for work done on the 1981-82 student viewbook, "View," and for work reported in the 1980-81 Report of Giving from the Office of Development.

C & L Series features Storaska

MSU's Concert and Lecture Series will present Frederic Storaska, founder of the National Organization for the Prevention of Rape and Assault, Inc., on Thursday, Oct. 22, in Button Auditorium.

In his second appearance at MSU, Storaska will address the topic of his book, "How To Say No To a Rapist -- And Survive."

Storaska began research of rape education after witnessing rape and assault of a young girl by a gang of teenage boys and developed resources toward understanding and solving problems of assault.

He also is the founder of the National Rape and Assault Prevention Center.

The 10:20 a.m. program is free and open to the public.

All University employees who wish to attend Storaska's lecture will be excused from work during that hour. Faculty members will have the option of dismissing their classes to attend the lecture.

YD's sponsor succession debate

Should Kentucky's governors, sheriffs and other constitutional officers be allowed to succeed themselves in public office?

The pro and con answers to this question will be examined during a discussion/debate at Morehead State University on Wednesday, Oct. 21.

Scheduled at 5:30 p.m. in the Red Room of the University Center, the event is open to the public under sponsorship of the MSU Young Democrats.

Persons attending will be asked for a donation of one dollar to defray the club's expenses.

Speaking in support of the succession amendment on the November ballot will be Dr. Grady Stumbo, secretary of the Kentucky Department for Human Resources. Speaking in opposition will be State Sen. Ed O'Daniel of Springfield.

Also on the program will be Dr. Jack Bizzel, head of MSU's Department of Government and Public Affairs, and State Rep.-elect Walter Blevins of Morehead.

The coordinator of the event is Lisa Phillips, South Shore senior and president of the MSU Young Democrats. Serving as moderator will be Bobby Rowe, Raceland senior and vice president of the Kentucky Young Democrats.

For more information, please contact Lisa Phillips at (606) 783-2140.

General Ed requirements clarified

Dr. Walter G. Emge, vice president for academic affairs, has issued the following statement to clarify the status of the new General Education Requirements:

1. All freshmen enrolling in the fall semester of 1981 and thereafter are required to comply with the new requirements as stated in the 1981-82 catalog.
  2. Students who enrolled prior to the fall semester of 1981 may choose either the old or new general education requirements. This decision may be made only once, normally at the time a student files a declaration of major. Advisors should review each student's general education requirements at that time and note the applicable requirements on the declaration of major. The student also should sign the form.
  3. Transfer students enrolling during the 1981-82 academic year may choose either the old or new requirements. This decision may be made only once and should be noted in the same fashion as for upperclass students.
- Individual questions should be directed to Dr. Emge or to the school deans.

President's forum set Thursday

The first President's Forum of the 1981-82 school year is scheduled Thursday, Oct. 29, at 11:30 a.m. in the Red Room of the University Center.

President Norfleet will host the Dutch treat luncheon which is open to all members of the University community. The primary topic for this session will be the outlook for the 1982-84 budget.

A question-and-answer session will be included.

RCHS to play here

Rowan County High School's football game with Lewis County on Friday, Oct. 30, will be played at Morehead State University's Jayne Stadium.

The change was announced in a joint statement issued by RCHS Principal Marvin Moore and MSU Athletic Director G. E. (Sonny) Moran. Kickoff time is 8 p.m. for the regular season game, originally scheduled at the RCHS Field.

"We are pleased to report that details have been worked out for the game to be played at Jayne Stadium," Moore and Moran stated. "We anticipate that this will be the first of several cooperative ventures involving the athletic programs of our institutions."

RCHS will retain gate and concession revenues and will reimburse MSU for utility costs, according to the announcement.

It will be the first Viking football game to be played at MSU since 1975 and the first night game at Jayne Stadium since 1978.

Preston returns Oct. 29

MSU to sponsor series of public programs

President Norfleet has announced MSU's sponsorship of a series of public programs designed to examine critical issues facing higher education in Kentucky.

Entitled "Kentucky Higher Education in the 80's --- The Promise of Renewal or The Politics of Retrenchment?." The series will be part of MSU's participation in the national "Mindpower" campaign to recognize higher education. Programs will be free and open to the public. More details will be announced in the near future.

Dr. Norfleet also announced that Dr. Louise Caudill of Morehead will serve as the national chairperson of MSU's 1981-82 Annual Giving Campaign.

The campaign opens officially next month and will emphasize needs for resources in the area of student financial aid.

President Norfleet added that MSU's student aid program is being reviewed by a special committee. He indicated that, if feasible, some permanent staff positions within the University may be converted to part-time student jobs as a means of providing additional aid.

Negotiations for a faculty-staff exchange program with Appalachian State University of Boone, N.C. have been completed, Dr. Norfleet also told his campus press conference.

A delegation from MSU will be visiting the ASU campus next month to discuss mutual problems. Vice President Emge will lead the group.

Dr. Norfleet also announced that a new program "In Search of Educational Excellence," is being finalized. The pilot program will involve several area school districts, starting with Rowan and Mason counties. MSU faculty members and administrators will be discussing teaching and learning problems with their counterparts in the public schools.

In the area of capital construction repair of a boiler at the MSU Heating Plant should be completed soon, he said. However, plans for the interior renovation of Button Auditorium will be reduced in scope. Bids on the project were 49 percent over the available funds and new plans are being prepared. Dr. Norfleet said that he has asked for additional construction funds in the 1982-84 biennium to finish the work.

EKU, MSU administrators join in cooperative effort

Administrators of Eastern Kentucky University and MSU met in Richmond Friday to explore areas of continued and expanded cooperation between the two institutions.

In a joint statement, EKU President J. C. Powell and President Norfleet said that the purpose of the meeting was "to help determine where increased cooperation will help maintain the levels of academic quality and service in our two universities."

The two presidents, along with EKU's Administrative Council and MSU's Cabinet, examined several areas which could serve the needs of the two institutions during times of "decreased state funding for higher education, and in the face of a proposed funding plan that would further erode the financial support for Eastern and Morehead State."

The latter reference was to a recommendation that will be presented to the Council on Higher Education by the Council staff on Nov. 12. The recommendation, which addresses funding for Kentucky universities for 1982-84 has been described as a proposal for the reallocation of state support.

The joint statement released by Presidents Powell and Norfleet said:

"Today's meeting between representatives of EKU and MSU was designed to help determine where greater cooperation will help maintain the levels of academic quality and service in our two universities as well as other public and private institutions."

"This conference came following decreased state funding for higher education, and in the face of a proposed funding plan that would further erode the financial support for Eastern and Morehead State."

"We believe that the first aim of the Council on Higher Education should be to achieve increased funding for public higher education. The primary function of instruction should receive priority in allocation of these funds with improvement of faculty and staff salaries and meeting the impact of inflation as objectives."

"We have looked at the meeting as a forum to examine means to use available funds to better advantage. It would be our goal to extend and maintain the services of the respective institutions through closer cooperation while, at the same time, preserving the individual autonomy of EKU and MSU."

Some of the areas of cooperation discussed included joint efforts in scheduling lecturers, concerts and other performing artists to help prevent increases in costs to students for those programs; the granting of academic credit by both institutions for extended campus classes in which they cooperate; sharing of television programming, library resources and facilities; repair of instructional equipment and the use of certain natural areas by both institutions.

The administrators also planned for expanded cooperation in such areas as travel, alumni activities, data processing, research equipment and job placement where there have been previous mutual efforts. In addition, the two institutions pledged continued mutual cooperation with business and industry in maintaining relevance of academic programs and services.

President calls funding plan "untimely and unwise"

Adoption of a new funding plan for higher education will make "official stepchildren" of the state's regional universities, according to President Morris L. Norfleet.

Budget recommendations to be considered by the Council on Higher Education on Nov. 12 are "extremely untimely and unwise," the MSU chief executive told two meetings of faculty and staff members here Friday.

Dr. Norfleet said approval of the plan proposed by the CHE staff would enhance the state's two largest universities at the expense of the other six.

"The new budgetary approach appears to be an attempt to make satellites of the regional universities and I don't believe the people of Kentucky will buy such a bill of goods," Dr. Norfleet said. "These recommendations already have caused divisions between the institutions and the Council staff at a time when higher education should have a united front in support of its legitimate funding needs."

"Make no mistake about what all of this means to you," he continued. "Approval of the recommendations will support the apparent premise among Council staff members that the teaching missions of regional universities are less important than the research and service activities of other state institutions. If and when that occurs, regional universities will have become the official stepchildren of higher education in our state."

Dr. Norfleet also questioned the Council staff for recommending reallocation of new general fund dollars at a time when the eight universities have not yet recovered from "painful" budget cuts.

"Public higher education in Kentucky is greatly underfunded and rectifying this serious situation should be the primary focus of the 1982-84 biennial budget process," he stated. "Instead, we are faced with a proposal which substantially reduces the level of general fund support for regional institutions and markedly increases the support of two other universities."

Concerning tuition increases, Dr. Norfleet said: "It is regrettable that the Council staff is urging our state to join the federal government in turning its back to the financial needs of Kentucky's college students. This cruel combination of higher tuition and reduced student aid could close the doors of educational opportunity to many of our current and future students."

KWNA opposes funding plan

The Kentucky Weekly Newspaper Association Saturday announced its opposition to a proposed funding plan for the state's public universities.

KWNA Vice President Michael Patton of Scottsville said the group objects to the proposal being considered by the state Council on Higher Education on Nov. 12 because "the plan would enhance one or two universities while demoting the others to a less desirable status."

Patton is editor and general manager of the Allen County News.

Adopted unanimously at the KWNA fall conference, the statement includes:

"The Kentucky Weekly Newspaper Association supports adequate state funding of all of Kentucky's public universities in order to preserve and further develop their individual and collective roles in providing higher education opportunities to the citizens of our state. We firmly oppose any plan which benefits one or two state universities at the expense of the others or which endangers the potential for growth and service of our entire state university system."

KWNA's membership includes more than 60 weekly newspapers across the state, according to Patton.

Prichard to open Higher Education Symposium Monday

Frankfort attorney Edward F. Prichard Jr., chairman of the blue ribbon committee which recently released the "Prichard Report" on Kentucky higher education, is coming to Morehead State University on Monday, Nov. 16, to discuss the impact of the 197-page document.

Scheduled at 1:50 p.m. in the Crager Room of the University Center, Prichard's appearance will be the first event in a six-part symposium titled "Kentucky Higher Education in the 80's--the Promise of Renewal or the Politics of Retrenchment?"

The programs are free and open to the public under sponsorship of MSU's Division of Public Affairs.

"We are delighted to have Mr. Prichard open the symposium with his personal perspective on the 17 months of deliberations by his committee and the recommendations which touch all aspects of higher education in this state," said MSU President Morris L. Norfleet. "Mr. Prichard is recognized as our state's foremost layman in public higher education and we are honored with his acceptance."

Dr. Norfleet also announced that Lexington attorney William H. McCann, current chairman of the Kentucky Council on Higher Education, will be featured in the symposium on Wednesday, Dec. 9, at 3 p.m. He will discuss the role of the CHE, Kentucky's statewide coordinating agency for higher education.

Other programs will examine institutional autonomy, financing of higher education, student financial aid and state and federal legislative issues.

"These programs are intended to provide opportunity for all segments of the higher education community and the general public to gain insight into the problems and potential of our higher education system in this decade and beyond," Dr. Norfleet said in announcing the symposium. "We are faced with critical issues which never existed before in Kentucky and the decisions to be made on the state and federal level in the next several months will chart the course of higher education well into the next century."

Dr. Norfleet said the format of each program would consist of a presentation by the featured speaker and a question-and-answer session involving the audience.

Travel and other costs related to the symposium will be financed through a gift to the University from the MSU Foundation, Inc., according to Keith Kappes, MSU's director of public affairs, who is coordinating the programs.

"We hope to publish the proceedings of the symposium and make them available to interested persons at little or no cost, depending on available resources," Kappes added.

Details of the other four programs will be released soon, he said.

Monday, Nov. 16 - 1:50 p.m. - Crager Room
Monday, Nov. 23 - 3 p.m. - Crager Room
Monday, Nov. 30 - 3 p.m. - Reed Auditorium
Wednesday, Dec. 2 - 3 p.m. - Crager Room
Wednesday, Dec. 9 - 3 p.m. - Crager Room
Thursday, Dec. 10 - 3 p.m. - Crager Room

Prichard opens higher education symposium

Edward F. Prichard Monday termed the financial situation of Kentucky's higher education as "critical and a season of anxiety" at a public symposium at MSU.

Prichard, chairman of the Governor's Committee on Higher Education in Kentucky's Future which authored the "Prichard Report," said that recent budget cuts had cut into "muscle, bone and had drawn blood."

"We feel that this must be turned around. It is critically necessary and vitally important that this be done," Prichard said.

He encouraged Kentucky's colleges and universities to hang together in the fight for adequate dollars, adding that "now is the time for unity."

"But, there is no way to deal with the needs of higher education unless we're ready at this time to deal with two dirty little words -- revenue and taxation. There is no way to slice this pie thin enough to take care of the needs of higher education and the other needs of state government."

In addressing the thrust of the report, Prichard said that the byword for higher education in the next decade will not be as it was.

"It will not be, as in previous decades, growth - growth - growth. But rather quality and excellence."

Prichard also stated the need for Kentucky's colleges and universities to prepare for an influx of non-traditional aged students who will have a different set of needs.

On the question of revised admission standards, Prichard said the committee felt there was a great burden on colleges and universities because of inadequate preparation of students for college work.

Are Kentucky's state universities fighting a losing battle with state and federal regulations and the widening authority of the Council on Higher Education?

Eastern Kentucky University President J. C. Powell will be the speaker on Monday, Nov. 23, when institutional autonomy is the featured topic in MSU's six-part symposium on the future of public higher education in Kentucky.

The 3 p.m. program in the Crager Room of ADUC is free and open to the public. The symposium is entitled "Kentucky Higher Education in the 80's: The Promise of Renewal or The Politics of Retrenchment?" Other programs include Nov. 30, Financing Higher Education; Dec. 2, Student Financial Aid; Dec. 9, The Role of the Council on Higher Education; and Dec. 10, Higher Education Legislative Issues.

Budget, roster in library

Copies of the 1981-82 personnel roster and budget are available for public inspection at Camden-Carroll Library, according to Keith Kappes, director of public affairs.

Kappes said of the action:

"In keeping with the letter and spirit of Kentucky's open records statute and as further evidence of the University's commitment to openness, President Norfleet has provided the library with copies of the 1981-82 personnel roster and budget for public inspection during normal library hours.

He continued:

"Dr. Jack Ellis, director of libraries, has placed the documents on two-hour reserve at the main reserve desk. Although these documents remain available to the public through the procedure established by Chapter 61 of the Kentucky Revised Statutes, President Norfleet feels that accessibility to these documents through the library will be more convenient to members of the university community and the general public."

Dr. Caudill to chair campaign

Dr. C. Louise Caudill of Morehead has been named national chairperson of MSU's 1981-82 Annual Giving Campaign.

In announcing the appointment, President Norfleet described the Morehead physician as "a person of the highest integrity with a lifelong record of dedicated service to the people of Eastern Kentucky."

"We are privileged to have Dr. Caudill's strong leadership in this year's campaign," Dr. Norfleet added. "Her wholehearted support of our institution and her success as a manager of volunteer efforts make her well prepared to provide direction to our fund raising program."

A native of Morehead and an MSU alumnus, including an honorary doctoral degree, Dr. Caudill has been practicing medicine in Morehead since 1948. She served nine years on the MSU faculty, including the directorship of women's physical education.

She holds a master's degree from Columbia University and the doctorate in medicine from the University of Louisville.

Dr. Caudill spearheaded the drive to establish a hospital in Morehead and St. Claire Medical Center was named in her honor when it opened in 1963. She was selected in 1979 as Kentucky's "Woman of the Year."

In addition to being active in various medical and civic organizations, Dr. Caudill served eight years on the Kentucky Council on Higher Education. She has been president of the Peoples Bank of Sandy Hook since 1968.

Dr. Caudill will be the chief volunteer in a six-month campaign to raise funds through the MSU Foundation, Inc., to benefit all areas of the University, including athletics.

Powell admonishes educators to be vigilant

Eastern Kentucky University President J. C. Powell warned here Monday that the state's public universities "must jealously guard those matters of institutional autonomy which affect teaching and learning processes" against the encroachment of external forces.

Dr. Powell also told a higher education symposium at MSU that the state's public institutions "should always be vigilant in protecting the opportunity for a good, sound college education."

The ECU chief executive identified the staff of the Kentucky Council on Higher Education as among those involved in "creeping intrusions" into the internal affairs of the institutions, particularly through the agency's statutory authority for review of academic programs and budgets.

"The (CHE) staff gets awfully concerned about faculty qualifications, where you are going to get the money to handle these things, about course sequences, about curricular matters that I think are none of their business," said Dr. Powell, ECU's president since 1976. He said that the actual Council membership "had not intentionally infringed" on the institutions but that the staff had, in certain instances "gone beyond what I think the legislature intended for them to do."

Asked if the controversial budget recommendations recently approved by the CHE would be adopted by the General Assembly over the objections of the regional universities, Dr. Powell replied, in part:

"One of my faculty members reminded me recently that the opera ain't over till the fat lady sings."

The ECU president was the featured speaker for the second program in a six-part series

entitled "Kentucky Higher Education in the 80's: The Promise of Renewal or The Politics of Retrenchment?"

Appearing at the third session on Nov. 30 at 3 p.m. will be State Finance Secretary George Atkins. His topic will be the financing of public higher education.

Should students pay a larger share of the costs of operating Kentucky's public universities? What is the state's obligation in funding the state's higher education system?

State Finance Secretary George Atkins will be the speaker on Monday, Nov. 30, when "financing higher education" is the featured topic in MSU's six-part symposium on the future of public higher education in Kentucky.

The 3 p.m. program in Reed Auditorium is free and open to the public. The symposium is entitled "Kentucky Higher Education in the 80's: The Promise of Renewal or The Politics of Retrenchment?"

Other programs will include Dec. 2, student financial aid; Dec. 9, the role of the Kentucky Council on Higher Education; and Dec. 10, legislative issues in higher education.

The symposium is sponsored by MSU's Division of Public Affairs with funds provided by the MSU Foundation, Inc. Proceedings of the six programs will be transcribed and made available to the public.

Giving kickoff nets over $179,000

Cash, property and pledges totaling more than $179,000 were received last weekend as MSU launched its 1981-82 Annual Giving Campaign.

Dr. C. Louise Caudill, Morehead physician and campaign chairperson, described the initial response as "a tremendous beginning."

In her challenge to nearly 100 volunteers at the Kickoff Brunch, Dr. Caudill called on those who support the University to "give and give and cause others to give."

"This is no time to be bashful about talking about money," Dr. Caudill said. "The University does not have the state support it needs and we must help make up the difference. Every person in this region needs the university and the university needs us. It is time to stand up and be counted."

MSU President Morris L. Norfleet announced that the campaign would give special attention to building the University's student aid endowment to finance scholarships and work-study programs.

"The University has lost nearly $2 million in state budget cuts and we obviously have many pressing financial needs," he stated. "Our most critical need is to improve our ability to counter the reductions in federal student aid programs. We must have more resources for scholarships if this is to continue to be an institution of opportunity for people of Eastern Kentucky."

Of the total given and pledged, about $67,000 went into the Eagle Athletic Fund to support intercollegiate athletics. Student financial aid received more than $33,000. Nearly $32,000 was committed to the University's greatest needs and $20,000 will go to support programs in the Department of Agriculture.

"We are most grateful for these gifts and pledges and for the others to be received during this campaign," Dr. Norfleet said. "And we are especially thankful for the dedication, hard work and generosity of our volunteers."

The largest single gift received at the brunch was $20,000 from Ashland Oil, Inc., for greatest needs. Several friends of MSU's agriculture program combined their gifts totaling $20,000 in livestock and farm equipment.

Scholarship gifts of varying amounts totaling $14,000 were presented by Dr. Ron Walke, chairman of MSU's Scholarship Committee. The funds came from individuals, families and businesses.

Instructional equipment valued at $11,000 was given by Tri-State Testing Co. of Ashland and the E. O. Robinson Mountain Fund of Berea contributed $8,800 for scholarships and research.

Robert Nally of Louisville gave $5,625 in art works to be sold for greatest needs. Kentucky Publishing Co. of Morehead donated $5,000 for journalism scholarships, athletics and greatest needs.

Budget official says higher ed must compete

A state budget official said here Monday that Kentucky's public universities have legitimate funding needs but must compete with other "worthy causes" in government for state resources.

Larry Owsley, executive assistant in the Office of Policy and Management, Kentucky Department of Finance, appeared at a higher education symposium at MSU to represent state Cabinet Secretary George Atkins.

Owsley said that the Department of Finance is considering "all of the legitimate needs of state government" within available resources.

"There are many considerations and we need a clear articulation of what is most important," he stated. "Higher education must make its case and it needs to be united as possible."

He called for "substantial, informed public debate" on higher education issues related to financial matters.

Owsley did not comment on the budget plan recently submitted by the Council on Higher Education (CHE), but did note that the Department of Finance will submit its budget recommendations and those of the CHE to the governor.

Owsley said that secretary Atkins does not support increased funding of specific universities at the expense of other institutions in the state's higher education system.

Owsley was the featured speaker for the third program in a six-part symposium entitled "Kentucky Higher Education in the '80's: The Promise of Renewal or The Politics of Retrenchment?"

With federal student aid programs being reduced, how will Kentucky's students pay higher tuition costs at public universities next fall? Can the state do more in student aid?

Answers to these and related questions will be sought here Wednesday when student financial aid is the featured topic in MSU's six-part symposium on the future of public higher education in Kentucky.

U.S. Rep. Carl D. Perkins of Hindman, chairman of the House Education and Labor Committee, will discuss federal student aid legislation. Speaking on state programs will be Paul Borden of Frankfort, executive director of the Kentucky Higher Education Assistance Authority.

The 3 p.m. program in the Crager Room of the Adron Doran University Center is free and open to the public. The symposium is entitled "Kentucky Higher Education in the '80's: The Promise of Renewal or The Politics of Retrenchment?"

Other programs include Dec. 9, the role of the Kentucky Council on Higher Education; and Dec. 10, legislative issues in higher education.

The symposium is sponsored by MSU's Division of Public Affairs with funds provided by the MSU Foundation, Inc. Proceedings of the six programs will be transcribed and made available to the public.

Heart attack claims Dr. Hawkins

Dr. Robert Hawkins, director of bands and professor of music at MSU since 1967, died early Saturday at the St. Claire Medical Center following an apparent heart attack.

A native of Sullivan, Ind., Hawkins earned both bachelor's and master's degrees from Indiana State University and a doctorate from Columbia University. He served in the U.S. Navy from 1942 to 1945.

While director of bands at Western State College in Gunnison, Colo., his bands became nationally known through performances at the New York World's Fair and Radio City Music Hall.

His career at MSU included four national television appearances by the MSU Marching Band. He established the Daniel Boone Music Camp and was musical director of Cave Run Musical Theatre.

Dr. Hawkins won first place two consecutive years in the annual orchestra conducting contest, was guest conductor for the UCLA Symphony, the U.S. Navy Band, and numerous all-state bands.

Survivors include five children and his wife, Kate, instructor of music and English at MSU.

Perkins, Borden paint dismal future for student aid

The Reagan Administration came under sharp criticism here Wednesday as an MSU audience heard U.S. Rep. Carl D. Perkins offer little hope for the immediate future of federal student aid programs.

Joining the veteran congressman in rapping the recent and pending reductions in federal student aid was Paul P. Borden, executive director of the Kentucky Higher Education Assistance Authority (KHEAA).

"In the space of a few months, the Reagan Administration has destroyed the progress we had made over 10 years in helping young people get access to higher education," said Borden, who had headed the state student aid agency since 1974. "We apparently are on a federal course which will dismantle the effective aid programs which Congressmen Perkins and (William) Natcher and others have been so effective in building."

Perkins and Borden were featured at MSU's higher education symposium which is examining the future of Kentucky's public university system.

In reference to his efforts to oppose funding cuts, Perkins said:

"We are fighting hard to hold the fort but at this point we are losing the battle. Every student, regardless of their station in life, will feel the effects of these cuts in a big way by 1983."

The Hindman democrat cited student aid as an example of domestic programs which are

"being sacrificed" for foreign aid and other priorities of the Reagan Administration.

Perkins said that he and other democrats on the House Education and Labor Committee would continue to oppose the budget reductions.

"I promise you that I will hold fast as long as I can under the circumstances," Perkins told the students in the audience.

Both officials said that Kentucky's college students and their parents should express their concerns to the state's congressional delegation and to members of the General Assembly.

"We at the state level recognize the need for additional state funding of student aid programs but the revenue to finance it simply is not available," added Borden.

Is Kentucky moving toward a "super board" to govern its public higher education system? Does the present concept of "coordination" really work?

Answers to these and related questions will be sought here Wednesday when the role of the Kentucky Council on Higher Education (CHE) is the featured topic in MSU's six-part symposium on the future of public higher education in Kentucky.

Lexington attorney William H. McCann, chairman of the CHE, will be the principal speaker.

The 3 p.m. program in the Crager Room of the Adron Doran University Center is free and open to the public. The symposium is entitled "Kentucky Higher Education in the 80's: The Promise of Renewal or the Politics of Retrenchment?"

The final program is Thursday at 3 p.m. when area legislators discuss higher education issues expected to face the 1982 Kentucky General Assembly. That session also is scheduled in the Crager Room and is open to the public.

McCann defends CHE budget plan; legislators visit

Kentucky's public universities are "walking a tightrope between the need for statewide coordination and their own institutional autonomy," State Higher Education Council Chairman William H. McCann said here Wednesday.

The Lexington attorney told an MSU audience that the Council on Higher Education has all of the statutory authority it needs as a coordinating agency.

"The Council has no power to run an institution but we must insure that unnecessary duplication is avoided," he stated. "I do not believe that we need any more power."

McCann defended the recently-approved "mission model" funding plan which has been submitted to the Kentucky Department of Finance describing it as "necessary to accomplish each institution's individual mission."

McCann called for the separation of budgets for teaching hospitals from the balance of the state's higher education allocation. He suggested that indigent patient care costs be budgeted to the Department for Human Resources instead of the two universities with medical schools.

McCann was featured at the fifth in a series of six programs in MSU's higher education symposium entitled "Kentucky Higher Education in the 80's: The Promise of Renewal or The Politics of Retrenchment?"

Blevins strong for MSU

Four state legislators visited the campus last week to discuss higher education legislative issues expected to face the 1982 Kentucky General Assembly.

State Rep.-elect Walter Blevins of Morehead used the higher education symposium as a forum to declare his "wholehearted" support of MSU.

Joining him on the program were Rep. Lowell Cline of Olive Hill, Rep. Pete Worthington of Ewing and Sen. Benny Ray Bailey of Hindman.

The symposium was entitled "Kentucky Higher Education in the '80's: The Promise of Renewal or The Politics of Retrenchment?"

"Eastern Kentucky has made great strides in the recent past," said the Morehead dentist, "and the quality of education at MSU is a part of that. I will continue to support higher education in general and MSU in particular."

Dr. Blevins described MSU as "more than a regional university, but also a vital part of the community and of Eastern Kentucky."

He added: "A strong educational base is an important factor in attracting industry to our region and MSU provides that support in fine fashion."

Rep. Worthington, whose district includes three precincts in Rowan County, said he is "very confused with the direction of public higher education at the state level." He predicted that the legislature would give special attention to the role of the Council on Higher Education.

"It just doesn't make sense to adopt fee increases in the face of reduced aid."

Worthington said of the CHE's recent 15 percent tuition hike. He also questioned the wisdom of making "dramatic changes" in budgeting and other aspects of the state's higher education system without "good justification."

Transcripts of the six programs will be prepared for distribution to all members of the General Assembly and other interested persons, according to Keith Kappes, director of public affairs and coordinator of the symposium.

Funds for the symposium and publication of the proceedings were provided by the MSU Foundation, Inc.

Pinning ceremony set

A pinning ceremony honoring the 11 December graduates of MSU's nursing program is scheduled Friday, Dec. 18, at 11 a.m. in Reed Auditorium.

Dr. C. Louise Caudill of Morehead will address the graduating class.

Graduates include Mary Grace Blimline of Hyde Pa.; Cheryl Jean Clevenger of Sandy Hook; Kathy Ann Conley of Catlettsburg; Carol Ann Cornett of Russell; Deborah Lynne Corwin of Medway, Ohio; Rebecca Pearl Hogge of Sharpburg; Teresa Lynn Johnson of Hi Hat; Ruth Renee LeMaster of South Shore; Glenda Ruth Salyer of Loveland, Ohio; Leigh Ann Wright of Frankfort; and Susan Jennifer Williams of Morehead.

Research grants awarded

Five MSU faculty members have received research grants totaling more than $8,000.

The awards for special research include:

*$1,185 to Dr. Victor B. Howard, professor of history, for "The Religious Sources of Radical Republicanism, 1862-1970."

*$400 to Dr. Broadus Jackson, professor of history, for "Mirror of America: Black Schools, Religion and Politics in Civil War and Reconstructive Mississippi."
